NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—A new move to delay the execution of Ruth Snyder entered a complicated stage today when an application made by her attorney, Edgar F. Hazleton, before Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy in chambers was put over "by stipulation" until January 13.

Mrs. Snyder and Henry Judd Gray are scheduled to die in the electric chair on the night of January 12.

Would Be Witness

Hazelton petitioned Judge Levy to have tried by jury the suit of the Prudential Insurance Company to cancel the $95,000 insurance on the life of the slain Albert Snyder. Mrs. Snyder is one of the defendants and

Why Razz Navy, It's A Mourner, Will Rogers Says

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal. Jan. 6.—Everybody is hopping onto the Navy as though they purposely had the submarine sunk. They blame the Navy for the bad weather, they blame the Navy for having a submarine in the water at all.

The Mississippi flood happened last year, and nothing has been done about it yet by congress. Yet, if a boat sinks they think the Navy ought to have it lifted to the surface by daylight.

Don't you suppose the Navy feels worse about it than we do—why pick on a mourner.

We would rather see it not investigated, then the causes will be remedied. But anything that is ever investigated, nothing is ever done about it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Floyd Hewitt To Be Electrocuted In Chair Tonight

Conneaut, O., Youth To Pay Penalty For Killing Of Woman And Boy

GOVERNOR DONAHEY NOT TO INTERVENE

Mother Of Doomed Slayer Visits With Son In Death House At Columbus

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6.—Ohio's death house at the state penitentiary is ready for the electrocution of 17-year-old Floyd Hewitt of Conneaut, O., tonight.

The self-confessed slayer of a mother and her young son is the youngest Ohioan ever to be sentenced to die in the electric chair in this state.

Seems Unworried

Spending his last hours with his mother, who came to his cell in death row early this morning, Hewitt seemed unworried. He has made no requests, according to Warden Thomas, and awaits his fate in apparent equanimity.

Last hopes of saving the boy killer were abandoned this morning when Vic Donahey announced that he would not intervene.

Hewitt confessed that he killed Mrs. Celia Brown and her five-year-old son, Fred Brown Jr., at the Brown home in North Conneaut, last February 14 during a casual visit to the home that night while the father was away at work. He became "crazed by radio jazz" and attacked Mrs. Brown, the youth confessed.

Killed Mother and Son

When she resisted him he beat her with a baseball bat and then killed the child to silence him, according to the confession. Fred Brown, husband and father of the victims, discovered their battered bodies on returning home the next morning.

All efforts to have young Hewitt's sentence commuted to life imprisonment failed when the state board of clemency refused to recommend such action after a hearing two days ago.

Launch Plan To Arrange Another Immense Banquet

Chamber Of Commerce And Scottish Rite Cathedral Will Co-operate

WARNER BROTHERS WILL BE HONORED

Many Matters Are Discussed At Meeting Of C. Of C. Directors

Hoping to have Warner Brothers, famous motion picture producers, who made their start in New Castle a number of years ago, present several of their leading motion picture stars, it was decided to accept the invitation of the Scottish Rite cathedral board to work with cathedral officials in holding another community dinner, such as was held on October 28, 1926, at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the board of directors of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, which took place in the Elks club Thursday noon.

To Name Committee.

For the proposed community dinner, a committee is to be appointed by the president of the chamber, David S. Pyle. The personnel of the committee will be announced later, and the date of the meeting and other details will be made known as soon as they are arranged. It will be remembered that the former community dinner was the largest affair of its kind ever held in the United States.

A report on the plans being made for the holding of the Pennsylvania Outdoor Advertising association's convention in New Castle was received by the board. The Outdoor Advertising association banquet will be held in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce, and an invitation is extended to the public to attend.

It is hoped that there will be a good attendance, as the famous sculptor, Lorado Taft, and Judge E. Allen Frost of Chicago, will be the speakers of the evening.

Reviews Meeting.

The work done by the city and county officials at a dinner meeting in The Castleton January 3, was reviewed in the form of a report from James M. Smith. Directors of the Chamber of Commerce were also present at this meeting to discuss projects that may be worked out for the benefit of the community. Mr. Smith stated that this meeting was one of the best that he had ever attended and the directors of the chamber extended to Robert M. White, who gave the dinner, a vote of thanks for taking the lead in this important matter.

Woman Foils Gas Station Hold-Up Effort

Bandits Flee Youngstown Road Station As Woman Shows Nerve

"What's coming off here?"

This question from Mrs. Tod Jones, wife of the proprietor of the Jones gasoline station, Youngstown road, at midnight, put fear into the legs of two young bandits and leaping into their machine they whirled toward Youngstown.

The robbers got no money from Jones.

According to Mrs. Jones, two young men in a Dodge auto stopped at the station about midnight.

One entered the gasoline station and asked for ten gallons of gasoline.

While Mr. Jones was outside he saw the young man step behind the counter and gaze into the cash register.

He saw no money as Mrs. Jones had only a moment before taken the money upstairs.

One of the two plucked a revolver from Jones' pocket and commanded: "Stick 'em up."

Wondering why Mr. Jones was so long, his wife started to investigate and went outside.

She saw her husbands' hands in the air. He was helpless, one of the robbers holding him at bay with another revolver.

"What's coming off here?" demanded Mrs. Jones.

Startled, the young men leaped into their machine and sped away.

(International News Service)

MANAGUA, Jan. 5.—With Gen. Sandino and his rebel troops keeping well hidden the United States Marine forces today were fortifying their present positions at Quilali and Nueva Segovia as reinforcements and supplies arrived.

No immediate battle is expected at El Chipote, the rebel mountain stronghold it was indicated.

Several reports current regarding Sandino's power among the people and remarks concerning "heavy losses" by the Marines made in Mexico City were definitely refuted by Marine headquarters and persons familiar with the situation.

No Support to Rebels.

Reports that Sandino had established a "republic" were scouted;

authoritative sources pointing out that the rebel leader has no support whatsoever within the country and is operating only in the outlying and unimportant sections of Nicaragua solely as a bandit.

It was also asserted that the entire Nicaraguan republic was solidly behind the recent Stimson-Moncada pact for free elections during the present year.

Replying to the statement made by Dr. Pedro Zepeda, former Nicaraguan minister to Mexico, that 80 Marines have been killed in the operations against the Sandino forces here Marine headquarters issued a flat denial backing it up with additional details of the two recent engagements and giving the list of dead and wounded.

Reports Show Large Game Kill In State During Season

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—Final figures on the large game kill in Pennsylvania will show the greatest number of deer on record, John B. Truman, secretary of the commission, said today.

At the meeting of the commission here preliminary figures submitted indicated that final results would show 15,000 legal bucks, 3,000 more than in 1926, and 25 elk, also a new total.

The bear kill during the past season was little in excess of 300, only one-half of last year's kill.

Scarcity of food and resultant scattering of the animals is blamed.

The rabbit kill, the figures indicated will exceed 3,000,000 and that of the squirrels was estimated at 1,200,000. The wild turkey total may reach 10,000 as a result of the 1926 closed season.

Hunting fatalities totaled 67, an increase of 20 over the previous year. The commission discussed methods of decreasing the hazard of hunting, several members suggesting longer seasons to prevent concentration during short periods.

The new license law will make available $200,000 for land purchase by the commission during the present year. Option already has been taken on 61,000 acres.

The commission elected Ross L. Leffler, McKeesport, as chairman and J. M. Reis, New Castle, vice president.

Seeking Home For Lovable Little Girl

Who is there in the city who would like to provide a good home for a darling little two and a half year old light haired, blue eyed girl?

That's what Mrs. Minnie McKibben, city police woman, would like most of all to know at this time.

There is a mother in this city who is unable to properly care for her little girl and she would be glad to permit the adoption of her child, providing she is to get a good home.

This beautiful little lovable child is of good American parentage and unless something can be done and done quickly to assure her a good home, she must become the recipient of charity, as the mother cannot provide for her properly.

Two New York State Slayers Die In Chair

Albany Slayer Tells Judd Gray To "Buck Up" Prior To Being Put To Death

MRS. RUTH SNYDER VISIBLY AFFECTED

(International News Service)

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 6—"Buck up, Judd, you'll be with us next Thursday night!"

This grim jest, uttered by Charles J. Doran, of Albany, N. Y., shortly before his execution in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison late last night, today was ringing in the ears of Henry Judd Gray. With Mrs. Ruth Snyder, Gray is doomed to die in the same chair next week unless they are reprieved by Governor Smith.

Doran, who was only twenty-one years old, was executed for the killing of Raymond Jackson, Albany World War veteran. Louis Mason, Buffalo negro, was sent to the chair for killing David Karam in Buffalo.

Bid Gray Goodbye

Before entering the death chair the two men shook hands with Gray. When Gray bade them farewell, Doran replied with his grim insinuation as to the zero hour which looms for the former corset salesman.

Both the blonde, self-made widow and the corset salesman were awake and excitedly pacing their cells when Doran's body received the first electric shock shortly after he passed through the "little green door" at 11:04 p. m.

Mrs. Snyder was not allowed to bid them farewell.

"God help them both!"

This was the frightened cry which Ruth was said to have uttered.

Warm Welcome For Lindbergh In Nicaragua

Famous American Good Will Flier Lands At Managua Amid Fine Welcome

ANOTHER MEDAL ADDED TO LIST

Lindbergh Prepares To Hop Off From Managua For San Jose, Costa Rica.

(International News Service)

MANAGUA, Jan. 6.—Forgetting the rumble of armed conflict not far away, Nicaragua today prepared to give its greatest honors to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who came out of the sky as an envoy of good will.

The first function on the visitor's schedule today was the presentation of a medal of honor from the Nicaraguan congress. Later he will attend a picnic luncheon at El Tizate, a beautiful coffee plantation nearby, and tonight he will be guest of honor at a second ball at the Managua Social Club.

To Go to Costa Rica

Early tomorrow morning Col. Lindbergh will leave here in his famous air steed, The Spirit of St. Louis, and wing his way to San Jose, Costa Rica.

On his flight from Honduras the flying colonel took a longer route than necessary in order to skirt the scene of present hostilities between United States marines and the rebel forces under General Sandino.

When he arrived here yesterday afternoon the greatest crowd ever assembled for a holiday occasion welcomed Col. Lindbergh with resounding cheers. First to shake Lindbergh's hand as he emerged from the cockpit of his plane was Major Rowell, aviation commander of the marine squadron.

Escorted to Palace

An official reception committee headed by the minister of foreign affairs escorted Lindbergh to the presidential residence. The march was made through streets crowded with wildly cheering citizenry and decorated gaily with festive banners in Spanish and English.

Cheers for President Coolidge and Lindbergh rent the air.

Col. Lindbergh was presented to President Diaz and to prominent officials and diplomats. A toast was drunk with champagne. The young aviator merely tasted his.

Later the party preceeded to the national palace where Lindbergh thanked the welcoming crowds. He spoke from the balcony. At his words the multitude gathered below cheered till they were hoarse.

Rich Oil Man To Wed His Adopted Daughter, Report

Millionaire Benefactor Of Lydie Marland To Offer Marriage In Cinderella Fashion

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Broadway has again produced one of those Cinderella romances where the millionaire benefactor of the poor but beautiful little girl becomes enshrined in her patron's heart.

From his suite in the Hotel Plaza, E. W. Marland, fifty-three, head of the Marland Oil Company, announces he soon will wed Lydie Marland, twenty-eight, his adopted daughter.

When Lydie was sixteen, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Roberts, of Philadelphia, gave her up to be foster daughter of the rich oil man.

To add the touch exquisite, the coming wedding is to take place in the comparatively humble Roberts home.

Marland's first wife died a year ago last June. The prospective bridegroom was born in Pittsburgh, practiced law there at twenty-one, went to Ponca City, Okla., to align himself with the oil industry and now is reputed to be worth $85,000,000.

Long Hunt For Missing Youth Now Successful

Sergt. John Hatschner, Who Disappeared In June, 1925, Is Located

AGAIN SERVING IN U. S. MARINES

Gives No Clue As To His Whereabouts During His Long Absence

SERGT. JOHN HATSCHNER

Two-and-a-half-year search for John Albert Hatschner, aged 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hatschner of 314 Harbor street, this city, after his unexplained disappearance on June 10, 1925, after his discharge from the United States marine corps at Portsmouth, Va., is at an end. He has been located at New London, Conn., as a gunner's mate, first-class, in the United States marine corps contingent stationed at that place.

There is happiness once more in the Hatschner home on Harbor street this city, and letters received by the parents from the missing young man indicate that as soon as his present enlistment is completed in the near future he will return to his home here.

Sent Clothing Home

It will probably be recalled by many here that young Hatschner wrote to his parents, then residents of Mercer county, in June, 1925, that his enlistment had been completed and that he would soon be home. He wrote that he had saved $2,000 while serving two enlistments in the marines and that he was coming to help them out. He even sent his clothing home.

He was last heard of in Philadelphia or some other large eastern city and when he failed to follow his clothing in a period of a few weeks the parents started a search for their missing boy, fearing that some person or persons might have done him harm on account of his money. No trace could be found of him, either

Those chilly days and those frigid nights, have left us it seems for a time, and today we've returned for a little spell, to a much more enjoyable clime. The air is warmer, the sun is bright, and the weather is forty-two and overhead there's an azure field, a sky that is clear and blue. And the radiators are thawing out, and the coal bin gets a respite, and one can sleep with more comfort now, when he tucks himself in at night. It looks like spring and it smells like spring, but don't be fooled for a while, those ulster coats and those fuzzy socks will still be in mighty good style. For this springy weather is but a snare to catch the unwary I wot, so wear your woolens for yet a spell, though at times they may get rather hot.

Treaty Between France And U. S. Is Agreed Upon

New Arbitration Treaty Will Replace Root And Briand Treaty Policies

OFFICIAL ACTION EXPECTED SOON

France And United States To Submit Future Difficulties To Arbitration

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Jan. 6.—France and the United States have practically agreed upon an arbitration pact, which will replace both the Root and Bryan treaties of arbitration, the foreign office announced today.

The new treaty, which awaits only the formal drafting, will combine the best principles of the Root and Bryan treaties and will extend beyond these treaties.

Questions reserved as not submissable to arbitration in the new treaty include matters of internal policy, those affecting a third power, those conflicting with France's obligations to the League of Nations and those concerning the Monroe Doctrine.

Under the new treaty the procedure in case of serious difficulty between France and the United States will be, first, direct negotiation; second, submission to a conciliation court; this, arbitration. If all of these efforts fail, both nations are pledged not to resort to war.

The question as to whether debts between the two countries could be submitted to arbitration was raised and the foreign office stated that in its opinion this matter could be arbitrated provided the parliaments of both countries passed legislation agreeing to arbitrate debts.

LONG HUNT FOR MISSING YOUTH NOW SUCCESSFUL

from the marine corps or other sources, and the parents finally gave up, fearing the worst had happened.

Get Clues

The manner in which he was located was passing strange. Until about two weeks ago the parents and other children of the family resided on a farm in Mercer county, to which they had moved from this city about five years ago. About three weeks ago, while still residing in Mercer county there came two letters to the Hatschner home addressed to John Albert Hatschner, the son.

Believing that the long lost son might be located through them, the father, whose name is also John, opened them. One was from a girl in New Jersey, whom the son had evidently met on shipboard, while the girl was returning to her home, and the other from a companion of the young man in the marine corps.

The letter of the young lady was addressed to the son at New London, Conn., while the other was to the same address and from his pal. These letters had been forwarded from New London to a hospital in New York City. This gave the father four addresses.

He wrote the girl and he wrote the hospital. The answer from the hospital came first and stated that the son, who had been placed in the hospital, had been discharged following an operation on November 18 and had returned to his post at New London.

The letter stated that in taking his record, in which it is asked whom to notify in case of serious condition or death, that he had given New Castle, Pa., as the home of his parents. He gave no street address. When the letters came from New London and he was gone, they had been forwarded to this city and eventually to Mercer, the last known address of the parents.

A letter from the girl was also received and stated that she would get in touch with the son and make him correspond with his home.

Gives No Explanation

With this data at hand the father then wrote his son at New London, Conn. He received a letter in reply in which he stated that he had reenlisted and that he was now a gunner's mate, first-class, quite a promotion from his previous position of sergeant.

He gave no explanation of his failing to notify his parents, other than that he had not seen enough of the world when he completed his previous enlistment and had re-enlisted to see more of it. He had now done so, he said, and would be glad to return home in the near future, when his present enlistment had been completed. He has since sent letters to his brothers and sisters indicating his desire to return home.

There is happiness in the Hatschner home here, and his return is anxiously awaited. The Hatschner family moved here two weeks ago, having disposed of their farm in Mercer county.

John Albert Hatschner enlisted in the marines when 16 years of age and is now 25 years old, having served nine years as a United States marine.

Council And Mayor Discuss Auto Speeding

Taxicab operators who whirl their automobiles through city streets at a fast or reckless rate of speed will not be tolerated and will land in the arms of the law, as the result of Councilman Clayton Reeves declaration that he would like to see this alleged practice stopped immediately. Mayor Gillespie promised council that "police will slow 'em up".

According to Councilman Reeves he has seen taxicabs fly at the rate of between 50 and 60 miles an hour through the safety zones of the city. He declared this a menace, during regular council session today and added: "I would like to see this stopped."

Councilman Tyler stated that the practice of operating motor cars through safety zones has been prohibited by state law. He expressed himself as opposed to automobilists "cutting in" of other cars when machines have been given the signal to go.

In regard to automobiles operating in the same direction in some cities Mayor Gillespie remarked that cars were not allowed to run ahead unless the leading car was being operated at a rate of speed not more than six miles an hour.

Owing to the heavy traffic this rule could not be adopted here according to Councilman Davies. There was no criticism of the manner in which policemen direct traffic movements as councilmen probably understand that a policeman cannot be everywhere at once.

But operation at a rate, faster than allowed by city ordinance and reckless operation of taxicabs will be stopped immediately, Mayor Gillespie having told council after the discussion: "Police will slow 'em up".

Mystery Box Found In Barn Near Big Fire

Police Investigate And Find Used Still Is Contents

Since the disastrous fire of last Saturday night at the First United Presbyterian church, Officer William Tyrrell noticed that some person or persons, had evidently dumped a large packing box through a broken out window of the Linville barn on Cochran Way.

Finally convinced that there was something wrong, he advised the central police station and he and Captain J. Ed. Elder made an investigation.

It was decided that it was best to break into the box and when this was done and Officer Tyrrell stuck his hand down in the straw packing, he was rewarded by drawing out a part of a still.

Further unpacking developed the fact that the box contained a first class copper still, which had evidently seen some service.

It was removed to the police department, where the mayor directed that it be rendered unfit for use and disposed of.

The mystery surrounding the finding of the still in the unused barn is the fact that it was not there previous to the fire.

Was it removed from some place where it was feared the fire might extend or did it just happen? All are entitled to one guess.

Funeral Directors Install Officers

Ceremonies Follow Banquet Event In City On Thursday Evening

James Anderson of Beaver, Pa., president of the Funeral Directors' association of the state of Pennsylvania, and W. S. Newcomer of Pittsburgh, state secretary of the organization, were honor guests at the annual "ladies' night" which was observed by the Funeral Directors' association of Lawrence county Thursday evening in the Elks club of this city.

The program opened with an elaborate dinner at 6:30 served in the dining room. Covers were arranged of 50, including members of the association, their wives and friends.

The tables were most attractively decorated by the committee of which Mrs. Bessie McGonigle was chairman. Tall pink tapers in green holders intertwined with green looked lovely and formed the illumination. Dainty flower powder puffs made by Mrs. Fred C. Wolford were given to each lady present. Selections by a local orchestra added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

At the close of the dinner the new officers elected at the last quarterly meeting were installed with David M. Marshall of Wampum, retiring president, as the presiding officer. The new officers installed were: Wyatt R. Campbell, president; Walter E. McClelland of Harlansburg, vice president, and Frank W. Wallace of the Mahoning Funeral Home, secretary and treasurer.

Brief talks on the work of the organization were given by the state officers.

The after dinner hours were spent informally with various games as features.

A fine spirit of fellowship pervaded through the entire evening and the occasion was considered the most enjoyable from a social standpoint given by the association in recent years. The event was in charge of the entertainment committee consisting of Wyatt R. Campbell, Fred C. Wolford and Walter E. McClelland.

Report on Holidays.

James K. Love and L. B. Round reported on the Christmas and holiday decorations and celebration, stating that New Castle was better decorated for this occasion than ever before and had received widespread publicity as a result of the cooperation of the people with the central committee.

The matter of printing a booklet for New Castle was discussed and President Pyle will appoint a committee on this project in the near future.

The matter of foreign-made goods, which are being shipped into this country at a much lower cost price than domestic-made goods and thereby injuring our industries, was taken up for discussion. The secretary was authorized to write Congressman Ben G. Swick to ascertain to what extent this practice is injuring the industries of the United States.

City Engineer F. F. Miller presented the matter of publishing a pocket directory of the city to the directors of the chamber and, after discussing the matter, it was referred to the same committee which will study the matter of publishing a booklet on New Castle.

In the absence of President David S. Pyle, the meeting was presided over by Vice President James A. Chambers. Those present were Hon. James A. Chambers, Thomas W. Dickey, L. G. Genkinger, W. G. Offutt, Ira M. Ramsey, W. F. Moody, James K. Love, Fred L. Rentz, James M. Smith, Robert J. Tully, Hon. George T. Weingartner, A. C. Hoyt, L. B. Round, F. F. Miller, Robert M. Eleven Hundred Kansas Bunnies Freed In County

Frank Johnston, game protector, in Lawrence county, reports that present weather conditions are good for the protection and propogation of small game in Lawrence county and that he has everything going in fine shape.

He has already distributed in every part of the county, eleven hundred of the Kansas bunnies, which have been allocated to him for this country by the game commission. He will have 1500 rabbits in all for distribution here.

He has 112 shelters built in various parts of the county for the protection of quail and small game and has been furnishing a generous supply of corn on the ear for the game. This corn is especially good for squirrels.

There is every indication that there will be an abundant supply of small game in the county next season.

Eva Fay Astounds Crowd With Mystic Powers

Three times on Thursday, the Capitol Theatre was filled to capacity to hear the world renowned Eva Fay and three times this lady of the occult faculties mystified them with her ability to answer the questions uppermost in the minds of the men and women present.

Literally hundreds of questions were written down and to every one of them she snapped back an answer. Business, matrimony, pleasure, questions dealing with almost every known form of human endeavor, and none of them got by this rather remarkable woman. The question now will probably be where to put the crowds today and tomorrow, and this question is one that would stump even Eva Fay for a theatre just holds so many and after that standing room.

Two other acts complete the bill, Austin and McPherson and the Echo Trio, both of which are good. The picture is "In A Moment of Temptation". Eva Fay will be in the Capitol tonight, Saturday afternoon and Saturday night. In spite of the unusual attraction, the Capitol has refused to raise the prices of admission and they remain as usual, 15 and 30 cents for matinees and 25 and 50 cents for evening shows.

A SCHEDULE FOR CRITICS

A FOREIGN-BORN musician of much talent broke all precedent by waiting until he had been in this country five years and become an American citizen before granting an interview to reporters on what he thinks of America and that which is peculiarly American.

When handed his naturalization papers he told the reporters, "Now I can safely express my opinion of prohibition." This he proceeded to do, together with his views on jazz, radio and other classic items in the repertoire of interview.

The incident is almost revolutionary. Hitherto it has been the invariable rule that, just as a slave automatically became free upon setting foot on English soil, a visitor to these shores derived from his first glimpse of Quarantine full competence to pass judgment on America, its democracy, its jazz, its women, its wage system, its skyscrapers and its future. The most pregnant summations of the American idea have been delivered at the gangplank.

But to set up this revolutionary musician as a standard of modesty and self-control for everybody in respect to everything would be going too far. But a compromise plan suggested by the railroad time-table is conceivable. Summary verdicts on the New York skyline might be held valid after thirty minutes in American waters, on skyscrapers after an hour, on American women after one walk down Fifth avenue, on American democracy after ten years, on American jazz after ten seconds, et cetera.

It is an arrangement that would make things easier for everybody concerned—the interviewed, the interviewers and the reading public. A suggested amendment to the plan is a prohibitory clause gagging forevermore those who have not found an American market for their books, lectures or ideas.

WHAT DEFENSE CAN THERE BE?

FOUR lines of defense were open to William Edward Hickman, highwayman and murderer in jail at Los Angeles, according to his legal adviser, and a plea of insanity is the one chosen for use at the trial.

There must come to the mind of the layman, as the abundance of defense is suggested, just one question. How can there be a defense prepared, worthy of consideration by honest men and women, after the young man has admitted murder in the commission of robbery, and told in detail of the horrible butchery of a little girl, merely as a scheme to secure some money, for which he was unwilling to toil?

And the state does not depend solely on his confessions to establish his guilt.

There is strong corroboration of the murder in the robbery, the other man in the holdup telling his version in harmony with that of Hickman and without conference. Powerful corroboration of the butchery is supplied. There is no weak spot in the chain, no reason for doubting the awful story told.

In the unusual things developed in trial courts there may be a pretended defense built up, the Ohio State Journal reflects, but what will it be, save additional effort to defy the law and escape its penalty?

Why should courts of justice pretend to listen solemnly to such piffle, when the crime stands out and proof is complete?

ELIMINATING WASTE

SECRETARY HOOVER is at home when he talks about elimination of waste. He did not inherit that problem from his predecessor when he became head of the commerce department of the government. He brought it with him.

The war industries board had pioneered in practical waste elimination, and engineers had explored its peacetime possibilities. It is as an engineer that Mr. Hoover has helped to develop a program to cope with industrial waste—an engineer who happened to be in a position to do something about it.

There is much evidence of the progress the country is making in this direction. With 10 per cent less men the railroads are loading 15 per cent more cars. The nation's production of electric power has increased nearly 75 per cent in five years, and the additional power is being produced with only 15 per cent more coal.

Of course Secretary Hoover does not take credit for all these reforms, and a hundred others that could be enumerated. Neither does his department. The role of the commerce department and its secretary has been chiefly to guide, to counsel, to stimulate and coordinate, to help organize a definite public movement. But it has had a real share in the progress.

On the part of the government, industrialists, engineers and the public there is a realization that just as twenty years ago the country undertook nation-wide conservation of natural resources, so it must today even more vigorously campaign for better nation-wide utilization of industrial resources and efforts.

Elimination of waste has been carried to the point where it has reduced production costs, conserved natural resources and aided American industry in competing in world markets.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:49. Sun rises tomorrow 7:24.

How times change. There was a time when the poor needed help and accepted that given in the spirit that it was given. Now its different.

That reminds us of the case the other day that an investigator came upon, right in this city. The family was starving it was said. This was true, the investigator found but what do you think the woman of the home asked for first. Five gallons of gasoline for the automobile, it hadn't been out for a month.

Along these lines, we learn, that right in this city it became necessary for the family to give up the family automobile or the home. And what do you think they did. Give up the home of course.

Some men are strange animals. We think the strangest of these animals we've heard of lately was that one who wouldn't work for his family. He'd rather loaf around home and do nothing and let the rest starve. Given an opportunity to work for the city, he fought his wife to go down and get him off. There are better men than he in the workhouse.

We regret the passing of Cooper and Butler. There are too many of those old established business names disappearing from our main street. Pretty soon we won't be able to find a single place where we can call the proprietor by his first name.

Fine bunch of fellows, said the mayor of the police force, the other day, when he had a glimpse of the greater part of the force at one time. Sure they are and the new mayor will find them right behind him when needed in any emergency.

Cold weather to continue.. Sure. Pretty girls in fur coats, short skirts, thin silk hose and bare headed boys, the fad of the times, are still everywhere present. They'll change their tactics when they get a little older.

A pet hobby of some of our fault finders is to tell about the easy life of the firemen. They can only see them when at leasure in their respective posts on duty. They're seldom around to see the boys when they're saving property, regardless of danger to themselves and in the wintry blasts of winter. Wouldn't it be better to give them a word of praise after such work as that of last Sunday. Remember they fight your worst enemy "Fire" while you sleep and while you work.

The barking dog seldom bites. Neither does a bass horn make the sweetest music. The critic on the word or say so of others, never does any good. We'd rather be a lumberjack and saw wood.

Charity begins at home. Sometimes. Its safer to say little about what the other fellow is because maybe he may have something to say himself.

Politics make strange bedfellows. We just couldn't refrain from saying this after looking at our neighbors in Pittsburgh.

Hay Hall of the credit exchange: The wife should make the budget because she usually pays the bills. How about father who makes the money? He ought to know something about saving it.

Clan sidewalks in winter and prevent broken bones. Don't blame the other fellow when you slip and fall on his. You're own may not be cleaned.

Its stock taking time. The merchant and the business man is doing it. The average citizen would do well to do the same. They might be able to say they had a better year next January.

A foreign heiress worth $40,000,000 is heading toward Hollywood hoping that four marriages and an equal number of divorces will get her into the movies. She may never prove to be an actress, but with all that jack and the other elements of publicity on her side she will be made famous in some way. You can get a great deal of notoriety in this country on one million and one divorce.

Wonder how this excitement over a new motor car in 1927 will compare with the furore over a popular-priced airplane in 1947?

It is never too late to make a resolution to boost your own town and to buy at home. If you cannot boost your city, move away. You won't be missed.

Speaking of endurance tests, there's the stunt of cooking dinner for a family of nine while balancing an infant on one hip.

If we were making motor cars we would make the motor look like a woman's leg and put a silk stocking over it in winter time, and we wouldn't be bothered with frozen motors and radiators. How the ladies keep warm is a mystery when iron and steel and alcohol frooze. The sex element is needed in auto cars, it seems.

One of the new shades of cloth for spring for women is called "grasshopper". That might prove to be an appropriate name when the leap year leapers are considered.

Women live longer than men, statistics prove, and we can echo the motto of the paint and varnish men: "Save the surface and you save all." Paint is a good preservative.

Sixteen people were lynched in the United States in 1927. That isn't a record to be proud of, but the figures are being reduced yearly in spite of Hickmans and others.

January bargains are on the shelves of the many stores in New Castle and you can read all about the bargains by taking The New Castle News. The buyer who follows the advertising is the wise one and gets all the best of the good things.

Will Rogers said over the radio the other night that he had to have a fire in his home at Beverly Hills, California, but he wasn't supposed to tell that. Fires are not supposed to be needed out there to keep warm. But even California gets cold feet occasionally.

The entire number of councilmen of Reading who were up for re-election at the recent election were defeated, and the reason given is that they held too many committee-of-the-whole or star chamber sessions. Executive meetings are necessary, but the public's business should be discussed and transacted out in council session. The voters and taxpayers then would know what is going on.

It's rather nice to have a friend who is a cop, if he doesn't take your arm as you walk down the street together.

Three times this year Friday falls on the 13th of the month, and coupled with leap year makes it extremely dangerous for the superstitious and for the single males.

A young American girl singer at a bankers' convention in Paris warbled "O Promise Me", and we have been wondering ever since we read of it if that was a very appropriate song for such an occasion.

Applications for auto driving licenses have been mailed out, and with them copies of the new auto code. There isn't any excuse for any auto driver not knowing the laws, rules and regulations, but the drivers will drive just as they always have and trust in Providence that is kind, notwithstanding the lack of belief in Providence of many.

Back about 40 years ago The News used to go after some of the alleged politicians in this county and just stripped the hide of some of them. Even after the libel suits were settled—those politicians were about as dead as the proverbial mackerel and the county and city were the better for it. Some selfish politicians do such rotten underhand things that if the public gets to know it they are already buried. The people of this county have to laugh at some of the things that are pulled off and wonder how they do it. The reason they do it is because we let them pull it. Some mighty interesting stuff can be written politically here .Discredited politicians are running things in Lawrence country—or rather trying to. The reason better people do not get into politics now is because they are too decent to take what they would have to stand for.

Bobby Jones is practicing law. It must seem strange to be getting people out of a hole instead of getting little balls in.

Political race: the Irish.

Mrs. Coolidge is not ashamed to tell how old she is and comes right out on the first page and says she is 49. She will not have many imitators in that—also in a lot of other sensible things she does.

Bloc: a group of appetites determined to sit at the first table.

And then you also have to get a license to drive your automobile after you have gone through all the other things including that of getting gasoline and oil. It is some job to get started running an automobile after one gets the title to it.

It might help some to have companionate children.

Twenty Beautiful Words.

A contest to decide the 20 most beautiful words in the English language was held recently in New York. Thousands of people took part and Mr. John Shea a lawyer was declared the winner. Of the 25 words submitted by Mr. Shea 21 were accepted. The words accepted were: Melody, splendor, adoration, eloquence, virtue, innocence, modesty, faith, joy, honor, radiance, nobility, sympathy, heaven, love, divine, hope, harmony, happiness, purity, liberty. Three words were rejected: "Grace," "justice" and "truth." The two former were eliminated it was explained, becuase of the harshness of the "g" in "grace" and the "j" in "justice." The word "truth" was eliminated because of its metallic sound. Why the words "mother" and "home" were not included in the list the Cleveland Plain Dealer thinks will puzzle many readers.

No husband likes to be treated like a dog. You can't feel dignified in a woman's lap.

Airplanes will be used for business and pleasure in the United States within the next ten years on a scale commensurate with the extension of automobile traffic between 1905 and 1915 it is predicted in a statement issued by the department of commerce. Now, will you believe it?

The Public Profits.
Sheik Dowish Killer.
Warn Your Women.
If Wall Street Did It.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

B. C. Forbes foresees keen automobile competition in 1928, with lower prices for good cars, higher quality for lower prices.

Cars of 100 horsepower will be sold below $2,000, and one manufacturer will even cut Henry Ford's new low prices.

As Ford himself said: "Anybody that can sell as good a car for less money or a better car for the same money, will get the business." The public will buy five million cars this year. Knowing that it is getting the best in value and price that industrial genius can produce.

Horrible news from Bagdad reminds you even war has improved. The Sheik Feisal el Dowish raided another tribe, killed every male, including children, carried off all property, leaving miserable women of the tribe to starvation.

Not so long since all war was more or less like that. Conquered cities were turned over to victorious armies for pillage and murder. Recent wars among so-called civilized races have not purposely killed children or noncombatants. Europe can rise from the latest war calamity because women are left to rebuild the nations.

The next war unfortunately may tell a story that would make Sheik Dowish seem kindhearted. War from the air with explosives and gases suffocating and destroying will be a war without discrimination or mercy. Human intelligence could prevent it. But it must make arrangements before intelligence disappears, in the fierce hatred that comes with the war spirit.

If you have daughter, sister or wife struggling to develop "a boyish silhouette" by starving, tell her tuberculosis is increasing because women foolishly desire to be thin.

In the past women have had cancer more often than men, but men have more often had tuberculosis.

By some doctors this was called the only good result of tight corsets. Consumption usually forms in the apices, the top part of the lungs that in men are usually not sufficiently inflated and supplied with oxygen—women squeezing their waists were compelled to breath high up and thus protected the apices.

The modern slumped down posture in girls and women has done away with that protection.

The late Gavin McNab, an extremely able lawyer of San Francisco, leaves $40,000 to two clients to make up for McNab's bad advice about investments.

It is fortunate for the heirs of certain gentlemen in and out of Wall Street that such bequests are not customary or compulsory. If Wall Street gentlemen had to make good losses caused by bad advice on investments there would not be much left for legal heirs.

Reports to the French minister of agriculture show that a great desert is forming in the Argentine, rivers and springs disappearing, great sand storms sweeping considerable regions and the desert area steadily increasing. Presumably, however, the energetic Argentine republic will know how to deal with that problem.

Similar desert growths, like great sores on Mother Earth, have spread over the land in ancient times in the past when men were helpless. Present arid conditions in Palestine and areas stripped of fertile soil in once all-fertile Mesopotamia show scars of ancient affliction.

These sicknesses of our old earth will be no longer a menace when men obtain power unlimited from sun, tides or atomic energy. Then, instead of deserts, gardens will spread over the earth.

Flying from one small Central American country to another, Lindbergh finds, even in a little capital city high up in the mountains, a flying field, where he can land, close to the center of population. In his own country he visits many great cities that possesses no nationally or municipally owned flying fields. These cities include New York and Los Angeles. Two cities that in war would depend entirely upon flyers for protection.

Secretary Hoover summarizes the past year as regards wages and employment thus: "There was little unemployment except during a moderate recession near the end of the year, and the rate of real wages remained higher than anywhere else in the world, or than in any other time in the world's history. The high prospect of the year did not represent merely an upward swing in the business cycle, but was the result of that general and permanent progress which has marked the nation's business."

That is a situation for American business men to keep in their minds, thus avoiding damaging, doubtful hesitation. Business and prosperity in this country have climbed to a permanently higher plane and will stay there.

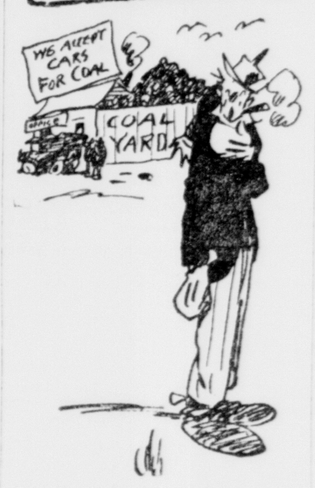

As James Speyer, intelligent New York banker, says: "Prosperity is our natural condition, not anything unusual, or anything to worry about."

In this wet-and-dry conflict there's something about a politician on the fence that reminds you of a refugee.

ROMANCE

Romance feeds upon what you do not know. Its preferred ailment is mystery. There is always great danger in meeting one about whom you have woven romantic fancies or whom you have never seen. It is said that Maude Adams rarely allowed herself to be interviewed off the stage. She wished to preserve her personality wrapped in her stage settings. A minister who is a hero in the pulpit frequently loses his pedestal of worship when we meet him personally.

Most celebrities would do better to avoid meeting the public and spend their off hours in retirement polishing up their halos.

The microbe of romance is a sly little insect.

AS OTHERS SEE US

There is a great variety, and even some confusion, among the financial and industrial forecasts of 1928. This is but a natural reflection of the unusual number of uncertain factors which enter into the problem. Prudent and responsible authorities, hoping for the best and on the whole believing in it, are in duty bound to point out some of the elements which may make the year's production and profits short of the highest. But one singular feature emerges from all these predictions. It is that foreign financiers and bankers are more united and positive in prophesying a continuance of great prosperity in America than are Americans themselves. Here there are points of doubt frankly referred to, but these very points are brushed away as of no serious consequence by European observers of the signs of the times.

About their own countries they express reservations and in some cases a feeling akin to despondency. But when they turn to the United States they see everything rose colored. Tell them of our large export of gold, and they reply that this only shows how successful we are in making profitable use of our surplus wealth abroad. Remind them that our stock markets have had one or two bad backsets, and that railroad earnings are off from 1926, and they will in reply indicate the abundant supply of credit here, with the continued transaction of a vast amount of business, as sufficient proof that the slight recession in trade is only temporary, and that the means are all at hand for another great expansion.

This foreign optimism about our affairs may be partly forced by contrast with conditions abroad. But, on the other hand, it may be simply the result of a truer perspective. It has been said that the contemporary verdict of foreigners anticipates the judgment of historians. This may be truer of large questions of public policy than of finance, but there is enough in it to lend an unusual weight to these favorable views of the American outlook, expressed at the first of the year by competent foreigners with such surprising agreement and argumentative detail.—New York Times.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MORE STRENGTH TO NATION.

The greatness of the United States was accomplished by the building of great Railway Systems. Population, enterprise and wealth followed the Rails. Now it is proposed by Representative in Congress Allen J. Furlow (Rep.) of Minnesota to add to the transportation systems of the Nation a System of Express Highways. His scheme was embodied in a resolution offered in the House for the creation of a commission to study the ways and means by which such a plan could be accomplished. He said:—

"In presenting this resolution I have in mind a complete study of all plans toward the building of a National Express Highway System. My resolution asks only for the appointment of a commission to study the subject which I believe is of great importance.

"Various plans have already been suggested such as giving private capital under proper safeguards an opportunity to build these highways, which would supplement our present system as public property. This has been advocated by the Union Highways Associations. Whether it is practical or not remains to be seen, but I do believe that this proposal and any other that may be forthcoming are worthy of the serious consideration of this country.

"If there are insurmountable obstacles to carrying out such a plan a study of the kind suggested will bring such obstacles to light.

"In considering any plan I think the public right in all roads should always be uppermost in our minds. With motor transportation increasing every year, we should plan for a greater system having in mind the safety of our people as an objective.

"The Union Highways Association proposes to construct the first unit in the proposed express highway system from New York to Boston and has already investigated methods for financing a section from New York to New Haven, Conn. Lester P. Barlow, president of the Union Highways Association, in a statement points out that an express highway from New York to Boston would relieve the most congested highways in the county and that such a road could undoubtedly be financed on the basis proposed by his Association."

A very excellent part of the proposal is that the cost of the Investigation proposed is to be bourn by the Union Highways Association.

Poor Salesmanship.

I recognize the solemn fact
That salesmanship is partly tact,
And industry and steam.
That every energetic man
Must catch his prospect when he can
By any plan or scheme.
A selling talk, though well rehearsed
Requires of course, a hearer first.

I do not mind it in the least
When one dressed like a parish priest
Gets in to sell me books;
Nor am I very sorely grieved
When comes another I've believed
A banker, from his looks
Who proves to be a gentleman
With stocks to sell me if he can.

But when upon the telephone
A man won't make his business known
To save his time and mine,
But vows the news he has to give
Is urgent and imperative,
And gets me on the line;
Then starts of certain bonds to tell
With me that boy won't finish well.

Who lies to get me to the 'phone
Will never make the story known.
His stocks I'd never buy.
He gets me from my desk to tell
Me what it is he has to sell
And does it with a lie!
If what he had would pay me ten
For one I wouldn't buy it then!

GOOD PICTURES

Perhaps I have no business writing about pictures. I cannot draw a house without making it look like the silly houses in the comic strips. When I converse with artists, I either spend the time listening, or talk about our rapidly improving relations with Latin America.

My education in art was somewhat unsystematic, I fear. In the one-room rural school I attended in Kansas drawing was not taught, and without the foundation teaching I found it advisable to neglect art classes when I went to higher schools.

But we had pictures at home. Our family grocer in Wichita gave as premiums with his groceries little green tickets which, when redeemed, were good for "art portfolios." These portfolios were large and well-printed collections of reproductions of famous paintings, with a little story of the picture and artist under each picture.

We had a large family that ate many groceries. In a year we accumulated a stack of portfolios that included probably a thousand pictures. On rainy days and when patient company came, we dug out the art, pored over it, and discussed it.

A BOOK CAUSING REFLECTIONS

That art in the portfolios was good. The originals still hang in the world's great galleries. Some of them I see from time to time at the Metropolitan or Astor galleries, in New York.

But I have just been looking at art that is very different. It is the art of George Bellows, whom I have admired since I first saw his work a dozen years ago. Alfred A. Knopf, recently issued a handsome book, "George W. Bellows: His Lithographs," and it is this book that moves me to these reflections.

George Bellows did not make pictures like those in the portfolio series of my boyhood. His groups are never quite smugly correct, and his individuals never smile as for the family camera. He drew and sketched sweating people, fighting people, thinking people or grotesquely idling people. Never correct and arty people. His pictures fascinate me.

About a year ago, I attended a memorial showing of the Bellows art at the Metropolitan. It was the first time there had been an exhibition of such un-gallerylike pictures in that noble gallery, and it was a sensation. Bellows is still something of a sensation to our generation. But in spite of that, I like his pictures.

those who only at intervals come down from their mountain to be seen.

In former times, sighing maidens draped themselves over the gallery rails to gaze at that most romantic of all objects, the Matinee Idol.

He appeared with all the electricity of his fascinating personality turned on and disappeared with the falling of the curtain. That he remained in some sort of cold storage the same noblehearted hero off stage, was never doubted.

Now the Matinee Idol is gone, but the Radio Man has come.

The land is full, according to a publicity man whose word I would not think of doubting, or palpitating feminine breasts each time the popular radio announcer warbles a golden "Good Evening".

Romance has attached itself to the voice of the radio man, and it looks like a lasting attachment. For even less is seen and heard of him than was the case of the actor of old. There is more food for dreams and less disillusioning reality; more aloofness and less contact than before. The announcer is merely a voice, the actor was a voice and a body, too.

Out of the voice you can make a body and a character to fit. A story I once heard of a construction engineer in China held within it wisdom of the way romance functions.

Each evening in his camp in the wilds he would play a battered phonograph. One rich, golden contralto voice was his favorite and he made a picture in his mind of the beautiful woman who had it.

Month after month he played it each evening and the voice became idealized into his ideal woman. On a trip to a port city he saw she was scheduled to sing that evening on a trip around the world. He heard her and saw she was fat, coarse-featured, half-intoxicated. Back at camp one evening he started to throw away the record, but didn't, and one evening he got it out again and as the soft-rose-petal notes thrilled through the darkness the illustion of romance returned and reality was forgotten. Lives would be pretty bare without illusions.

In Day's News

Any fool can take a chance, but it takes BRAINS t' be careful!

Woodbrige N. Ferris who celebrates his 75th birthday anniversary today is a former governor of Michigan and the first Democrat to represent that state in the United States senate in 75 years. Senator Ferris has spent the greater part of his life as a school teacher. A native of New York state he went west in early youth, studied for a time at the University of Michigan and then located in the town of Big Rapids. Here he established a private school with himself and his wife as the sole teachers. The school prospered, developing into a business institute of state-wide reputation and in course of time placed its founder in the capitlistic class. Mr. Ferris served two terms as governor and made a third but unsuccessful run. In 1922 he was sent to the United States senate where he was among the strongest supporters of Woodrow Wilson.

In the married state it is the fifty-fifty partnership that returns 100 per cent of happiness.

Must Get License For Dogs At Once

Dog owners in this county should be concerning themselves over the matter of tags for their pets according to J .Wylie Brewster of the Bureau of Animal Industry.

There are approximately 6,000 dogs in this county according to Mr. Brewster that should be licensed before January 15. County Treasurer Adda C. Smiley is prepared to issue licenses to every owner and the owner should see to it that they get them.

"If a dog is worth owning it is worth licensing" said Mr. Brewster. "Failure to license dogs will result in prosecutions."

Hanlon Discusses Headlight Section Of New State Code

Because of the comment caused by the headlight adjusting section of the new motor vehicle code, which came into effect January 1, 1928, Bernard N. Hanlon, manager of the New Castle Motor club, deems it wise to make public such sections as affect New Castle motorists.

"In the first place," comments Mr. Hanlon, "the code specifically states that the usual charge for adjusting headlamps is 50 cents. Charges for material may be made in addition to the charge for labor, but no higher prices can be made for the materials than the regular prices for which they are sold. Labor charges for adjusting headlamps shall not be made at a rate higher than ordinarily used by the station for similar work on motor vehicles. At stations where only headlight service is given, the labor charge shall not be higher than that generally used by garages in the locality for services performed on motor vehicles.

"The garages that issue certificates for headlight adjustment must give to the motorist a printed form, containing the name of the owner, his address, the make of the vehicle, its type and registration number, the name of the headlamp device and the condition of the rear lamp. It must also be signed and dated by the adjustor."

Department Heads Rush 1927 Reports

Completion Delayed Because Institutional Figures Not Available

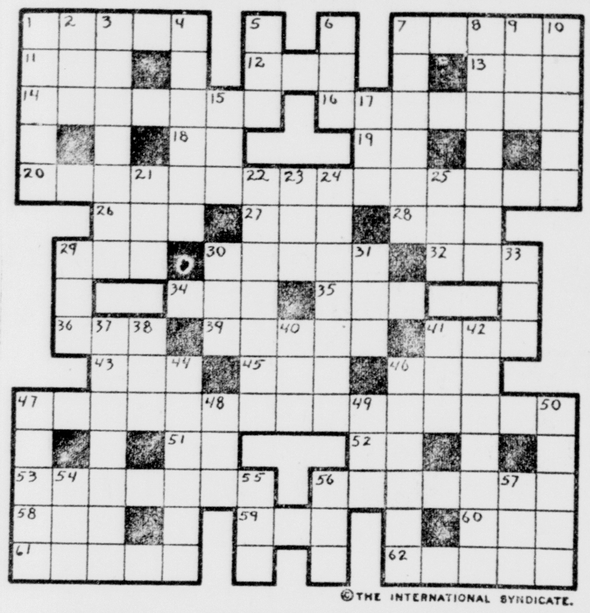

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6.—Department and bureau chiefs at the State Capitol are busy today in the annual rush to prepare reports covering their various activities during 1927.

In many cases completion of such reports is delayed because of the necessity of securing figures from institutions and substations scattered in various parts of the State.

At the beginning of the Pinchot administration printing of many departmental reports was abolished and to a large extent the same policy will be continued during the present administration. Prior to the Pinchot regime it was not uncommon for reports to appear anywhere from two to five years after the date on which they had been compiled. A number of the bound volumes were used for the various files in the capitol and the rest sold as waste paper.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A BROKEN RESOLUTION

"Gir-rul-lup," twittered the young birds, nervously, really much amused, but hardly daring to laugh. For a moment Father Blue Jay was a bit discomfitted at having his past deeds revealed to his children. As for the eldest son, he was quite disgusted.

"We can't do a thing with the youngsters, now that mother has told them that, chirped he, in an aside to Peter. "I wonder what father is going to say now!"

Only Mother Blue Jay seemed quite at ease. She appeared to think that she had settled things, and so, indeed, she had.

"Chinkle-chee, tinkle, Tee chee twee!" said Father Blue Jay, turning toward his mate and looking upon her tenderly. "You are right, my love, just as you always are. It was foolish of me to expect the children to give up a pleasure that I could never forego myself—and, when you come to think about it, why should they? I had forgotten for a moment the motto of the Blue Jays—'Might Makes Right!' We Blue Jays have found it a very good one to follow."

"Well, father, seeing that you are backing out of the bargain, I guess I will change my mind and take back my promise," remarked the eldest son hastily. Then he turned to Peter. "I hope you will not think too badly of father and me. We did our best, but you see how it is. There is nothing gained by my being the only vegetarian in the family, now, is there? I was willing to reform if the others would, but they won't, so what's the use! Are you hungry?"

"Not at all!" replied Peter, at once. "I suppose Blue Jays will be Blue Jays! I don't know that I blame you, but, of course, I do feel dreadfully sorry for the poor little birds whose nests are robbed. You wouldn't like to be in their places, you know, now, would you?"

"Well, I should say not," exclaimed the whole family in a chorus. "But, of course, it is not our fault that all the birds are not Blue Jays."

Then the same birdling who had dared to doubt eldest son's word spoke again.

"Then it is understood that we shall rob nests for our mates this spring just as you did, father, and you will not scold us when you find us bringing home a nice, fat squab, or a dainty egg?"

"Yes, I suppose it is understood," replied Father Blue Bird, sighing a little. Then he brightened up: "My grandfather was considered one of the cleverest robbers in his day, and so was my father. And as for myself, why, you know I can still fool any bird in these parts. I can twitter like a robin, I can 'kill killy' like and sparrow hawk, I can scream like a cat bird, I can call like a red shoulder, 'Ke-ah! Ke-ah!' When the baby birds hear me they think that it is their mother bringing them food, and up they stick their heads and open wide their hungry mouths, and then I swoop down and seize the fattest one of the brood and off I fly with it in my beak."

"Oh, father, will you teach us all the calls you know?" asked the daring little Blue Jay, and his brothers and sisters, even the eldest son, added their pleas to his.

"Yes, father, please say yes!" cried they.

"Well, I'll see about it," said Father Blue Jay, greatly pleased at the respect he was receiving. And Mother Blue Jay remarked proudly:

"There is no more clever bird's nest robber than your dad, anywhere in the world, I do believe, children. And you may be sure that it shows you what he knows, you will be expert thieves, yourselves. Now let's change the subject. Isn't it high time that you were cleaning up your uniforms?"

Don't dope YOUR Cough

IT is not wise to use remedies which depend upon "dope" such as narcotics, chloroform, cannabis or tar products. They may stop your cough temporarily by numbing the tissues, as most cough mixtures do, but this is not enough.

The inflamed air passages must be soothed naturally, the germ-laden mucus loosened and expelled in order to effect a lasting recovery. PERTUSSIN assists Nature to accomplish these results in a remarkably short time—and it is absolutely harmless.

Hunters Must Make Report

Lawrence County Holders Of Licenses Required To Report Kill

Game Protector Frank Johnston has just received a letter from the Board of Game Commissioners urging him to have the sportsmen of Lawrence county to make a return of the game killed during the hunting seasons of the past year for the purpose of compiling statistics and also determining the quota of game that will be allocated to Lawrence county for propagation purposes.

There is attached to each hunters license a slip for that purpose and it is highly essential that these returns be made by every hunter whether successful in getting any game or not. The returns should be mailed to the Board of Game Commissioners at Harrisburg without delay. The hunting seasons are all over and there is no longer any reason for a delay.

It is intimated by the board of commissioners, that those who fail to make such returns as required by law may find it difficult to secure a hunter's license in the future.

Of the some 6,500 hunters licenses issued in Lawrence county during the past year there have been but about 2,200 returned so far only about one-third of the total number. This is a very small proportion and it is desired that all the hunters make this return if they desire to help maintain Lawrence county as a small game hunter's paradise.

Brooklyn Theatre Scene Of Panic As Plaster Topples

Twenty-Two Injured As Plaster Falls Into Orchestra Pit, Start Investigation

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Building inspectors and city officials began an investigation today of a theatre collapse in Brooklyn last night in which twenty-two persons were injured. A section of heavy plaster fell seventy-five feet from the roof of the Kingsway Theatre into the crowded orchestra pit. Three patrons were injured painfully.

A panic ensued when the piece of plaster, about six feet square, smashed down into the dimly lighted theatre. Screams rent the air and the 2,500 persons in the audience rushed for the exits.

Joseph Hanley, manager of the theatre, turned on the lights and calmed the crowd. After the injured were removed, most of the patrons returned and saw the remainder of the show.

Police reserves dispersed a large crowd which gathered outside the theatre.

Secretary Chilton Issues Correction

Secretary Alfred W. Chilton of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce wishes to state to the residents of the city that a mistake was made in the article concerning the address which will be made in the First Methodist Episcopal church on the evening of January 17, as given out by his organization and printed in the News under the date of January 5.

The New Castle Ministerial association assisted in bringing Mr. Wallis to New Castle last year to deliver a speech at the Scottish Rite Cathedral and Mr. Chilton says he understood that the same arrangements had been made this year, but he has been advised by the Rev. H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church and president of the New Castle Ministerial association that such arrangements do not prevail on this occasion and for this reason wishes a correction to be made.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

A GOOD CITIZEN.

Much talk these days about the job of being a good citizen—and the indifference of most of us. These words of the late Theodore Roosevelt ought to be pasted in the hat of every man of voting age: "The first requisite of a good citizen in this republic of ours is that he shall be able and willing to pull his weight, that he shall not be a mere passenger, but shall do his share in the work that each generation of us finds ready to hand and furthermore that in doing his work he shall show, not only the capacity for sturdy self-help but also self-respecting regard for the rights of others."

POWER OF ACTION.

An immense jumbled mass of knowledge has been gathered together during the last few years. In the middle of the last century the world hardly dreamed of finding out so many things. The great problem now is to sift and classify this knowledge, to co-ordinate it, to get it into the brains and hands of the people. Our problem now is to find a practical way of giving the world the benefit of knowledge.

LACK OF TRUST.

While we are talking about the spread of knowledge we ought to shed tears over our short-sightedness and general inability to pick the right men for office in city, state and national government. As a people we have been fortunate in getting many good men into positions of importance in the national government. Now and then we have an able state governor or a man or two of ability in state office. Infrequently do we have capable men at the head of affairs in city government—except in some of those cities which are turning to the city manager form. When a really able man does run for office we don't like the way his hair is parted and vote for somebody else. There seems to be in most of us a tendency to distruct those who know more than we do.

It has been said before that a democracy is a good form of government only when it breeds leadership and then breeds the good sense to trust that leadership.

YOU ARE SOMEMODY.

Never think of yourself as unimportant. You have a unique pesonality. There is not and never will be anybody quite like you. You can do certain things in a certain way and nobody else can do exactly the same. All people who live to the age of reason and judgment carry a real responsibility—the responsibility for a unique performance.

"I have done" said Roosevelt, "the things that I could do." Few can say that.

Relieving Sore Throat is Tonsiline's special mission. It is made for that—advertised for that—sold for that one purpose. You will need Tonsiline one of these days, or some night when the drug store is closed—better keep a bottle handy at home.

A Man Of Rare Professional Attainment

The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the late Ray V. Pierce, M. D. At first he practised medicine in Western Pennsylvania and his unusual ability and success were soon recognized there, then he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary where his famous home remedies have ever since been made.

Each succeeding year the sale of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been greatly increased. Evidently people appreciate the fact that it increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, helps to enrich the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young. It contains no harmful ingredient.

Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for a trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—A report that Lessing J. Rosenwald, 36, a director and vice president of Sears, Roebuck and Company, would be tendered the presidency of the firm to succeed the late Charles M. Kittle, was current in business circles Thursday. Rosenwald is general manager of the Sears, Roebuck properties in Philadelphia and a son of Julius Rosenwald, Sr., former president of the company and now chairman of the board.

Police To Enforce New State Auto Code

"It's time that motorists of the city remember that the new state code concerning automobile traffic is in force," said Chief of Police Henry Dysart this morning "and make an effort to obey them.

"Police of the city are under instructions to enforce them and those caught violating these regulations will be brought in and required to pay the penalty.

"First of all they must remember that the new regulations forbid the practice of going through or to the left of Safety Zones. They must stay in the right line of traffic and go to the right of the safety zone at all times.

"Another thing they should remember is that the practice of starting up their machines and going forward on the amber lights of the automatic traffic signals is not permitted.

"The amber light is the warning to be prepared to go while they may not move forward only on the green light. The red light means stop.

"I hope the motorists will observe these regulations and help out the police department by refraining from violations such as these."

Hon. T. W. Phillips Issues Statement

Declares In No Uncertain Terms He Is Not Candidate For U. S. Senator

In a recent edition of the Butler Eagle, Honorable Thomas W. Phillips Jr., former congressman from the 26th district, denied any intention of being a candidate for the United States Senate. Speaking of a press dispatch which said that he would be a candidate, Mr. Phillips said:

"My attention has been called to the Associated Press item dated Philadelphia, December 31, stating that I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, that a card bearing my name to this effect had been received by political leaders, and that the repeal of the Volstead act would be my platform. The card which caused the press item was not prepared ,authorized nor has it been seen by me.

"On the contrary, I have stated repeatedly that I had never so much as seriously considered being a candidate for the Senate, and to numerous inquiries have specifically stated that under no circumstance would I be a candidate in opposition to Senator Reed. In my opinion Senator Reed's services are needed by the Republican party, by the state of Pennsylvania, and by the United States Senate. Furthermore, his experience and his familiarity with international problems make his services in the field of politics invaluable, the importance of which, under present conditions, cannot be over-emphasized.

"Unless his political enemies are animated by petty politics or personal pique, I am at a loss to comprehend why sane or sensible citizens should seek to deprive the state of Pennsylvania of the services of such a keen and courageous representative, and I wish to state definitely and finally that I absolutely refuse to permit my name or my influence to be used directly or indirectly for any such purpose.

"The only bit of correct information conveyed by the Associated Press dispatch is the fact that I am opposed to the Volstead act. Upon numerous occasions I have set forth in unanswered, and I believe, unanswerable logic why I have little faith in sumptuary legislation. Those who favor and those who are responsible for the enforcement of prohibition are daily strengthening my position in the minds of reasonable and rational people.

"For some time past various periodical publications have brought to the attention of their readers many illegal and outrageous acts of the prohibition enforcement officers, including perjury, unjustifiable assaults and inexcusable murders. Within the last few days press accounts describe acts of vandalism on the part of prohibition enforcement agents in New York that should not be tolerated in actual warfare by the soldiers of an invading army.

"Personally I feel that I have already discharged my full obligation in the cause of sane legislation and constitutional liberty, and hope that my choice and my pen have contributed not a little to the rising resentment against Volsteadism with its accompanying graft, political corruption and moral degradation."

Officers Elected By Medical Society

Cleveland Youth Slays Sweetheart, Claims Girl Flirt

"Because She Smiled At Other Boys" Cause For Shooting Youth Claims

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Jan. 6.—Because she "smiled at other boys," Anthony Yontez, 19, shot and killed Alice Preskar, 19, after the couple returned to the girls home from a dance here last midnight, the youth told authorities investigating the shooting today, detectives said.

Yontez, according to the officers, said he attempted to shoot himself, after he wounded the girl, but the trigger of the gun jammed. Police declared that Yontez' revolver showed a bullet lodged in the chamber.

Yontez was calmly smoking a cigarette when police arrived at the scene of the shooting. Arresting officers declared the youth readily admitted that he had quarreled with Miss Preskar, and that he finally drew a revolver.

"Put the gun away," the girl was quoted as having said to him, whereupon he fired a bullet into her heart. She died almost instantly.

Yontez was formally charged with the murder this morning.

Deny Application Of Railroad For Big Construction

Pittsburgh And West Virginia Railroad Denied Right To Construct New Road

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The proposal of the Pittsburgh & West Virginia Railroad to construct 38 miles of new line between Connellsville and Cochran's Mill, Pa., at a cost of $12,800,000 received a staggering blow today when C. V. Burnside, assistant director of finance of the Interstate Commerce Commission, recommended that the application be denied.

Burnside's recommendation said that such denial should be "without prejudice to renewal of the application in connection with proceedings properly involving the general questions of railroad consolidation in eastern trunk line territory."

Youth Confesses Stealing Money For Education

Youthful Clerk In New York Merchandising Concern Admits Money Theft

SOUGHT EDUCATION IS REASON ADVANCED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—"No night clubs, no gambling, no pretty girls; it was education I wanted." Such was the explanation today of Emil Erdreich in admitting the theft of more than $30,000 from his employers in four weeks.

Erdreich, who is only 20, has been employed for five years by the New York Merchandise Company, starting as a messenger he became a trusted clerk in the cashier's office.

At night he has been attending New York University and would have been graduated soon. It was from a classroom that he was taken and confronted with a specific charge of taking $25,300 from his employers.

Stooped of shoulders and shabbily dressed, he looked the part of a typical college "grind" as he paced his cell in the Tombs. With near-sighted eyes he peered through the bars as though he failed to comprehend his predicament.

"Girls? Night clubs? They've played no part in my life," he said. "Yes, I took the money, for I thought it would enable me to get a better education. I wanted to study abroad—to become one of the world's greatest psychologists.

"I haven't spent one penny of the money," Erdreich continued. "I've even saved some of my salary, too. The only money I've spent went for books—mostly on psychology. I have more than enough money to pay back all I took.

"I'm only worried about my mother. She fainted when the detectives took me home to search for the money. She's getting old and I'm afraid the shock will be too much for her."

London Doctors See New Hope In Latest Cancer Treatment

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Great interest has been aroused in London medical circles by news of a fresh treatment for cancer which has been applied it is stated with great success in Madeira recently.

The news is communicated by Dr. Machiel Grabham a very distinguished Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, Londan who for many years has been associated with cancer research.

He states that Dr. Fortunato Pitta of Funchal found accidentally that a few drops of "trachoma" inflammation of the eyelash injected into a growing cancer caused immediate arrest in vitality of the growth followed by disintegration of the malignant mass with disapparance also of the secondary gland enlargement.

It also appears that the virus or agency which affects the disintegration of the growth is selective in action leaving healthy tissue and tumors other than malignant, untouched. The dissolved malignant growth is discharged through a subsequent small incision.

Until Dr. Pitta's virus has been received in this country and subjected to thorough tests medical opinion is reserved it is hoped that the Ross Institute of Tropical Diseases will make investigation on the spot. Up to now it has not even been discovered whether the attacking organism is of a bacteriological or chemical nature.

Broadcast Theatre Soon To Entertain Vienna Audiences

(International News Service)

VIENNA, Jan. 6.—Vienna will have an innovation believed to be unique in radio history when its "Broadcasting Theatre" is completed. The theatre will accommodate regular audiences who may listen at first hand to the artists gathered for the purpose broadcasting.

The "Broadcasting Theatre" will be technically adjusted to afford ideal acoustical advantages for broadcasting, and its sending station, now under construction, will be the largest and best equipped on the continent. The new theatre will be the property of the Austrian Broadcasting Company, which has the monopoly on broadcasting in Austria and is supported by taxes upon every piece of radio apparatus sold in the country.

Besides its "Broadcasting Theatre" the Austrian Company plans another novelty, an international phonograph archive which will record the lectures of scientists, artists, explorers and authors delivered in every broadcasting station of importance in the world. A system of international exchange would make it possible for these speeches to be heard by audiences abroad at any time the subject matter might prove of especial interest. Pictures illustrating such lectures will also be collected for the photo-broadcasting service of the future. The probable seat of the phonograph archives will be Geneva.

FIREMEN CALLED

Firemen were called to the toy department of the W. J. Offutt Company on Mill street Thursday afternoon by an alarm from box 28.

It happened that employes of the store endeavored to shake out the ashes of a large coal stove in the department, and owing to the weakened condition of the floor as a result of the recent small fire at the store the stove toppled over. It was feared that another fire might result and the firemen were called. The only damage done was by smoke from the stove when it fell over. The floor damaged on the previous occasion was still unrepaired pending an adjustment of the fire loss.

Ellsberg Will Testify Before Inquiry Court

Lieutenant Commander Of S-4 Rescue Operations Will Take Witness Stand

WILL TELL EFFORTS TO SAVE SURVIVORS

Commander Of Division Under Which Paulding Was Sailing Testifies

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD, BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 6.—What happened at the bottom of the sea will be told by Lieutenant Commander Edward Ellsberg, director of the rescue operations on the sunken submarine S-4, scheduled to be called as the first witness today before the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster.

It was Ellsberg, the hero of the submarine S-51 salvage operations two years ago, who vainly drew on his genius in an attempt to rescue the survivors of the entombed crew of the S-4 in Provincetown Harbor following the submersible's collision with the coast guard cutter Paulding several weeks ago.

Ellsburg will tell his dramatic tale of the futile efforts to save the six survivors in the torpedo room of the S-4. He will be questioned by the members of the board as to the salvage technique used and as to why air was not pumped in through the S C tubes sooner than it was.

The traditional rivalry between the regular navy and the coast guard service is screened behind the formal courtesy of the hearing.

Commander Leroy Reinberg, commanding the division under which the Paulding operated, testified that the vessel was assigned to rum chasing duty on the day it collided with the S-4.

However, Commander Reinberg carefully avoided any direct reference to the prohibition angle, alluding only to "scrutinizing duty," "inspecting of vessels" and "prevention of smuggling."

"One of our most astute enemies was reported in Provincetown Harbor that day," Commander Reinberg declared at one point in his testimony.

The witness brought out that he had not been informed by the navy or from any other source that a submerged submarine was in the vicinity.

Start Hearings On Boulder Dam Issue

Great Boulder Dam Project On Auction Block; House Committee Opens Hearings

Development Of Vast Tract Of Western Land Hinges On Outcome Of Bill

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—America's "Billion Dollar Dam Site"—the great Boulder Canyon on the Colorado river—was placed on the auction block today as the house irrigation committee began hearings on the Swing-Johnson bill.

Public and private interests swung into action to capture the prize, declared by many experts to be the greatest congress has had the power to bestow since railroads were given huge tracts of land to push their rails to the Pacific coast.

Ideally located for the building of the greatest hydro-electric dam and power plants that engineers of the world have yet conceived, the value of Boulder Canyon has been estimated at not less than a cool billion dollars.

Legislative Battle

The future devolopment of seven states and the entire national water-power policy is bound up in the result of the legislative battle, Rep. Swing (R) of California, co-author of the bill, declared.

The Swing-Johnson bill proposes government building of a 550-foot dam, impounding 26,000,000 acre feet of water, and the development of electric power.

Factories in seven states would forever be assured cheap power, Pacific cities guaranteed a domestic water supply, thousands of acres of desert land reclaimed and the Imperial Valley protected from floods if the bill is passed, he asserted.

Orders Suit Filed Against Company

Councilmen in legislative meeting at city hall today passed a resolution presented by Councilman William Burns instructing the city solicitor to bring suit against the P.-O. company for $1,271.65 claimed by Burns to be due the city for the companies share of resurfacing Liberty street, between Clayton and Tremont streets.

According to Burns the company has refused to pay the assessment and he wants to see if the city can collect the money which the city believes it is due.

Beveridge Book On Lincoln's Life To Be Published In 1928

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 6.—Fears that the masterpiece of the Senator Albert J. Beveridge would be lost to the world have been allayed with word here from friends that his biography of Abraham Lincoln will be published in July or August of next year.

When Beveridge died suddenly several months ago he was in the midst of his historical labors which were expected by scholars to produce a greater work than his famous "Life of John Marshall."

Assembling of the Lincoln manuscripts of her husband has been entrusted by Mrs. Beveridge to Worthington C. Ford, secretary of the Massachusetts Historical Society, who has obtained a leave of absence to work at Beverly Farms, Mass., where the former senator had a home.

Because Beveridge had completed only the period of Lincoln's history up to his life of the White House, there is prospect that the proposed title, "The Life of Abraham Lincoln", may be changed.

Accuracy was the guiding principle of Beveridge's historical achievements and Mrs. Beveridge proposes to recognize that spirit in assembling the work. To that end she enlisted the service of Ford who was admired by Beveridge for his ability as a historian.

Although it had first been proposed to issue the work in two volumes, it is now indicated that the length of the Beveridge manuscripts may require three books.

New York State Farmer Shoots Big White Crow

(International News Service)

FARMINGTON, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Scoffers who have branded the tales of the appearance of white crows as fabrications or over indulgence in "Old Crow" were confounded by the evidence in the hands of Francis Herendeen, of Farmington, who is having a perfect specimen of an albino crow, the first capture on record in Western New York, mounted.

Herendeen shot the crow from a flock of its normally colored brethren who were feeding on the bodies of muskrats which had been trapped and skinned. Although scientists report that albinos invariably have pink eyes the crow shot by Herendeen has the conventional black eyes.

Alaska Placer Mines Still Produce Riches

(International News Service)

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 6.—That Alaska placers are far from worked out, and that strikes are still being made that would cause a stampede anywhere else but Alaska, was shown recently when Jim Murray, pioneer operator of Cache Creek district, discovered ground running $3000 to the square foot.

Cache Creek is considered an old district. Its creeks have for the most part been worked by crude methods for twenty years. Recently Murray began to use a hydraulic on the "side pay—narrow strips left where a dredge could not secure floatage to work. Suddenly his paystreak gave out. Legends of the main Cache Creek showed that the dredge in passing the point had a wide lean streak that carried small values.

While Murray's son was sniping around on a low bench above the creek he found something that interested him. When a hydraulic was put to work the values, as given out by Murray were revealed. He estimates there is three year's work on the bench and that the cleanup will exceed anything yet made in the old camp.

Slight Hope Is Seen For Saving Lives Of Gray And Mrs. Snyder

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Counsel for Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, scheduled to die in the electric chair next Thursday for the murder of the woman's husband, today pinned their final hopes of saving the lives of the condemned pair on a fragile thread of legislative action.

Governor Alfred E. Smith has indicated that he will not grant clemency to Gray and the widow, but Assemblyman Christopher C. McGrath, New York Democrat, will introduce a bill in the state legislature next Monday night to abolish capital punishment in New York state. As soon as the measure has been introduced, Edgar F. Hazelton, counsel for Mrs. Snyder and William J. Millard Gray's attorney, plan to petition the governor to reprieve Mrs. Snyder and Gray until such a time as the legislature has taken final action on the abolition proposal.

The attorneys will point out that this bill will inaugurate a new state policy if it passes and will argue that the governor could make the bill retroactive in respect to Gray and Mrs. Snyder.

Little hope of saving the condemned pair is held out here, however. Although Governor Smith will not officially announce his decision on the clemency appeal until next week, he was not moved by the pleas of the attorneys at the hearings here. The psychosis plea apparently failed and the governor did not seem to be impressed by the argument that some mental twist, beyond their will or power to stop, caused Gray and Mrs. Snyder to murder Albert Snyder.

Pittsburgh Clue In Young Murder Proves Failure

Brooch Found In Bloodstained Auto Near Pittsburgh Did Not Belong To Thelma

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—Another supposed clue in the Thelma Young murder case flickered out here today when a sister of the 17-year-old girl slain in Washington, Pa., while returning home at night from a theater, failed to identify a brooch found here as belonging to Thelma.

Had the brooch been identified as Miss Young's the search for the fiend who criminally assaulted her and then murdered her would have been renewed with hope of trailing the slayer through a car abandoned in Sharpsburg, a suburb, the night of the murder.

Bloodstained spotted the interior of the car and the brooch was found inside it. Police say the car was stolen in Baltimore.

Children of Pre-school Age Need Vitamins

The child of pre-school age needs special nourishment to build a strong body in preparation for the strenuous days of instruction that are ahead.

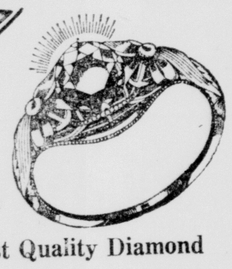

Many mothers have been gratified at seeing their frail, undernourished children become vigorous and strong through the consistent, regular use of emulsified cod-liver oil.

The millions of easily-digested, vitamin-rich, mist-like globules of emulsified cod-liver oil that are in every bottle of Scott's Emulsion, are the source of its great power to nourish the body and build health.

If you would assure your child the utmost vitamin-benefit from cod-liver oil—give it in its emulsified form, as in

"The Practice of Politics," a thirty-six page booklet by Raymond Moley, authority on criminal justice and author of the official text book for the League of Women Voters, is now available at the public library, according to Miss Alice Sterling, the librarian. This is the thirty-first course of the Reading with a Purpose series, published by American Library association.

In brief discussion, the author gives an antimated picture of the rise of party politics and its function today. "The national party organizations exist in the main for the single purpose of capturing the presidency," Mr. Moley writes, and he continues skillfully to give the reader an insight into the great game of politics.

In the last part of his discussion, Mr. Moley recommends seven books, including biographies of Jefferson, Hamilton, Horace Greeley, Marcus Hanna, Theodore Roosevelt, Fredrick Howe and Woodrow Wilson. These offer a study of politics thru the lives of our political leaders.

Other interesting courses along the same line include "Conflicts in American Public Opinion" by William Allen White and Walter Myer, "The Europe of Our Day" by Herbert Adams Bibbons, and "The Foreign Relations of the United States" by Paul Scott Mowrer, states Miss Sterling.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Woman Dies At Age Of 101 Years

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 6.—One hundred and one years old, according to available records, Mrs. Ellen Walsh, widow of Patrick Walsh, died in her home, 8 Ayers street, Oakland. She enjoyed perfect health until about 10 months ago, when she began to lose strength. She never wore glasses and her hearing continued normal to the end. Her kin ascribe Mrs. Walsh's longevity to her sense of humor, contentment and ability not to worry.

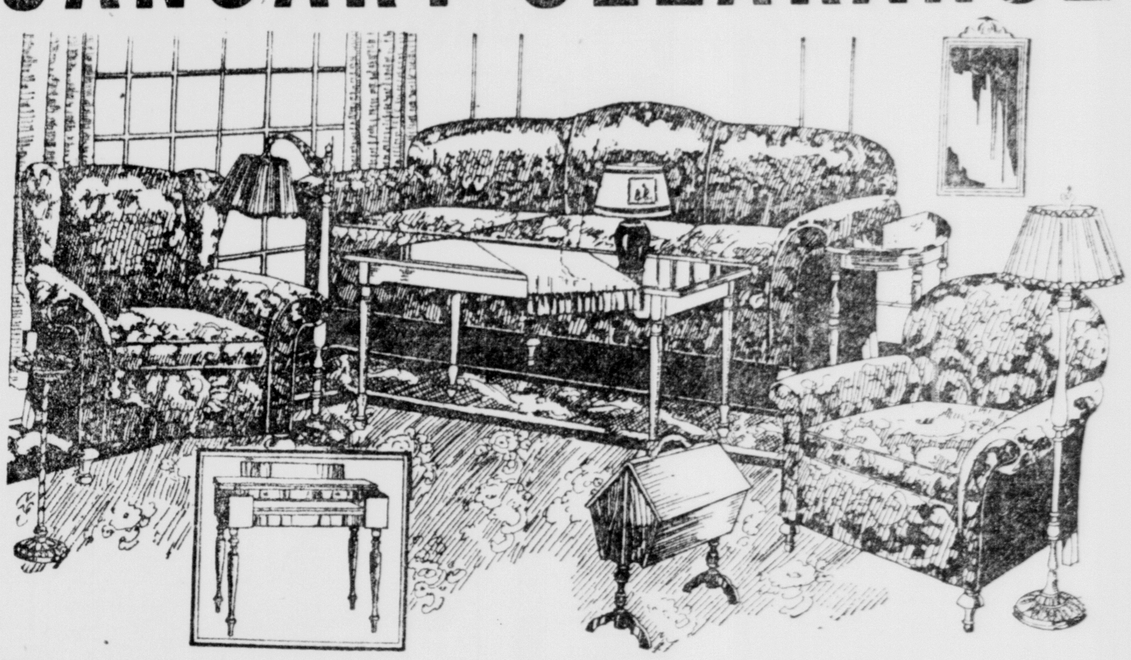

A trusty who escaped from Sing Sing prison was caught in a taxicab. He might have gotten away if he had gone straignt.

MERCER NEWS

The public health report for Mercer county for the month of December as prepared by the Mercer County Health Bureau shows 131 cases of communicable disease reported during the month and 106 cases released from quarantine. The report follows: Chickenpox, 79; mumps, 16; whooping cough, 12; scarlet fever, 8; tuberculosis, 6; erysipelas, 2; pneumonia, 2; typhoid fever, 2; diphtheria, 2; measles, 1; tetanus, 1.

The report for the week ending January 2 showed a decrease in the number of cases of communicable diseases reported, there being but 8, while there were 23 released from quarantine. The report shows five of chickenpox, two of pneumonia and one of tuberculosis.

A reorganization meeting of the choir of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held in the church on Friday evening. At this time a choir leader will be present from out of town and steps taken to reorginize the choir. It is requested that members of the congregation who can sing be present. Light refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Horace Filer of Mercer R. F. D. No. 5 thinks he has a coop of Rhode Island Red pullets which will compare with any as egg producers. During the month of December he received 1 314 eggs from a flock of 83 of this breed.

When Sheriff W. A. Bone took over the office on the first Monday of January, 1924, Sheriff David J. Jarrett turned over to him 51 prisoners. When Sheriff Bone turned over the office to Sheriff Callahan on Monday he delivered 54 prisoners to the new official.

When Judge McLaughry administered the oath to District Attorney Leo H. McKay of Sharon on Tuesday morning in open court he took occasion to compliment retiring District Attorney L. R. Rickard for the efficient manner in which he had conducted the office during his eight years as the prosecuting attorney of the county and stated that his relations with the court had been most pleasant.

In administering the oath to County Detective Sam Leyshock he commended him for his splendid service and stated that it give great pleasure to approve the appointment of the district attorney.

During the past several months farmers of Mercer county have suffered heavily from the activities of thieves who have not confined themselves exclusively to raiding chicken houses, but have carried off livestock. Several farmers have lost both sheep and hogs. Among the latter are the Robinson Brothers, just south of Mercer, who have recently lost eight head of sheep, a brood sow and had the gasoline drained from their truck. The sheep were in a barn on the old sugar camp tract. County authorities have been making a strong effort to wipe out the gangs who have carried on these depredations and several have been captured but there seems to be a number of gangs working at it.

Holds Mail Drivers Must Obey Rules

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—Mail truck drivers must obey the local laws pertaining to automobiles or take the consequences, was the warning given in quarter sessions court today when a driver was sentenced to six months in the county prison and fined $100.

The driver was Charles Jones, negro. He was hurrying to a railroad station with a load of mail when his truck collided with an automobile. Anna D. Gallagher of Carbondale, Pa., riding in the automobile, was so badly injured that she had to remain in a hospital eight weeks. It was charged that Jones was driving recklessly.

Union Labor To Start Campaign To Gain Strength

Representatives Of Union Labor Sent To Every Part Of Pennsylvania

HOPE TO UNIONIZE STEEL WORKERS

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 6.—Having received instructions from William Collins, American Federation of Labor field operative, and from Philip Murray, international vice president, United Mine Workers, representatives of thirty-one labor unions took up their posts in different parts of Western and Central Pennsylvania today as a part of organized labor's campaign to restore the union miners to the major bituminous coal mines now operating open shop.

The union's plan of action is to bring every trade union up to its maximum strength and to organize trades heretofore not touched by organized labor in this region, for the purpose of making the union vote so formidable that state officials and candidates for national and state offices will pledge support to the union's cause.

Collins was reticent to discuss details of the reported plan to organize the steel mills, which have operated without the union for the past ten years. But there were reports on every hand that at least an attempt would be made now to bring the steel workers into the union.

Meantime, thirty-two families of striking miners at California, Denbo and Vestaburg occupied their homes under terms of a three-day postponement of evictions scheduled for Wednesday by the Vesta Coal Co., a subsidiary of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporations.

A committee of miners wives have appealed to high government officials to stop the evictions, but as similar appeals in other sections have met with the reply that the officials are powerless to act, these were expected to have little effect.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Announcement that all divorce cases filed in Lawrence county courts will be heard in open court in the future will probably have a tendency to slow up Lawrence county's increasing divorce rate. Heretofore there have been little opportunity for and publicity in connection with divorce suits filed in Lawrence county.

Postmaster E. W. Chawford's figures on the postoffice receipts for the past year, showing that in spite of the slowing up of business in Western Pennsylvania there was a decided increase in the postal receipts in New Castle and that December's business exceeded that of the previous is a matter of satisfaction here. The postal receipts are a barometer for business conditions and indicate that there is every reason to look forward to the present year in New Castle as one offering exceptional opportunities.

What do you think about calendar reform? The letter and comment in The News last night, submitted by Mills C. Leonard can be read with interest by all and should arouse some thinking along this line. What do you think about the question?

Certain it is that a plan of cleaning New Castle's downtown streets after midnight, in the early morning hours as intimated by C. H. Reeves, head of the city street department will have to be worked out in New Castle. Streets cannot be cleaned when both sides are lined with parked autos and there is little feasibility to any plan to ban parking on the streets. The only thing that seems reasonable is a plan to clean the streets when the autos are off them. From midnight to 8 a. m. would be the best time to do downtown street cleaning work.

Weather conditions moderated during the night and New Castle zero wave is over for the present. Temperature was climbing towards 30 this morning. A sleet storm is reported during the night.

New Castle is scheduled for a number of conventions during the next few weeks. Why wouldn't it be a suggestion for the Chamber of Commerce to launch a move for office buildings downtown to be lighted up during the nights that the visitors are in the city. It would give a much better impression of the city if such were the case on these special occasions.

There's something about fire ruins that never fail to arouse curiosity. Since the blaze that razed the First United Presbyterian church building on North Jefferson street on last Saturday night thousands have visited the scene and viewed the ruins. Even today there were many sightseers noted in the vicinity of the fire scene.

Be sure your sins will find you out, but the discovery may wait until death unless you run for office or apply for divorce.

The best way to make Fortune smile on you is to tickle her with some hard work.

Promises Long, Healthy Life To Weak, Thin-Blooded People

Scientists Discover "Mysterious Substance" in Beef Livers That Makes Rich Red Blood and Creates Strength, Vigor and Vitality—Often in 8 Days.

There's wonderful help for men and women, who are rundown, weak, tired-out and thin blooded.

In New York and other big cities progressive physicians are prescribing a diet of beefs liver.

They have found by actual tests that patients far gone with pernicious anemia—so far gone that life itself was only a matter of months—have been restored to robust health.

In order to get this "Mysterious Substance" or vitamines in a greatly condensed form one of New York's famous Laboratories is putting up a liquid elixir known to Pharmacists as Hemo-Liver.

This preparation is not a patent medicine—the vitamines are extracted by a new process from fresh beefs liver so that all the blood making health creating substance is saved.

Thousands are being helped by Hemo-Liver—it has restored to happy health a host of men and women as well as thin sickly children.

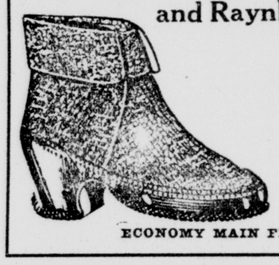

It is a pleasant to take elixir which all thin blooded people and especially those who need more vigor and vitality are urged to try.

Hemo-Liver is now dispensed by all druggists who keep abreast of the times with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help—wonderfully—your money will be returned.

Eat more liver—and take Hemo-Liver every day—It's the one supremely good tonic for old people—it keeps them feeling younger.

Congress Is Marking Time, Legislation Is Coming Spasmodically

Seventieth Congress Lolling Along, Taking Own Time With Legislative Record

Situation Unique In Congressional Annals; Senate Adjourns Over Week-End

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Although facing a presidential election but ten months hence, the Seventieth Congress was lolling along today taking its own good time to grind out a legislative record.

The situation was unique in congressional history as neither house nor senate leaders of either major party appeared perturbed over signs indicating the present session may go down in history as a "do-nothing congress." The legislative record thus far has been the lightest in merory of congressional attaches, with only one bill of national interest enacted, and that one which conferred a medal on Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Despite this paucity of accomplishments, the senate adjourned over the week end while the house dallied with minor legislative matters. The senate's recess was taken too after it had "worked" but two days following a two-weeks vacation over the holidays.

Too Many Laws

Congressional leaders, however, were not worried, as one of them observed: "The country is better off and the public thinks it's better off if congress doesn't enact so many new laws. We have enough laws now."

The reason for the lack of legislative business was due to failure of the leaders of both parties to speed up action on any of the major bills. The new tax reduction bill, which was to have become a law by the first of the year, ran into a pigeon-hole when the house raised the total slash to $290,000,000 while the administration held out for only a $225,000,000 cut. A gentleman's agreement was reached to sidetrack the bill in the senate until after March 15 in order to determine accurately how much reduction the treasury can stand.

Major Bills Sidetracked

Two other major bills, the flood control measure and a farm relief act, also appeared sidetracked temporarily. While a house committee has considered flood relief legislation, this subject has never been brought up in the senate. The senate agriculture committee, however, will begin hearings on farm relief legislation February 1, and the bill probably will go to the President by March 1.

The house has been more active than the senate. It enacted an alien property bill and a $100,000,000 public buildings bill. Both of which mysteriously disappeared in the senate. It also began hearings on the "Big Navy" bill. The senate will retaliate by starting hearings Monday before the Interstate Commerce Committee on a new railroad consolidation bill, on which a house committee has been acting.

Neither branch though has taken any action on Muscle Shoals, the Columbia river basin or Great Lakes Waterway bills. All these measures were supposed to be on the legislative program unless party whips begin cracking soon, a legislative jam undoubtedly will result, with but little actual legislative accomplishment to the credit of the Seventieth Congress before it adjourns next summer for the presidential campaign.

Johnstown Youth Dies In Hospital From Effects Of Monoxide Fumes

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Neville Harrigan, of Johnstown, Pa., died in Staten Island hospital today from the effects of carbon monoxide gas which killed his two companions while all three were imprisoned in a heated Baltimore & Ohio freight car which arrived in St. George, L. I., last Wednesday.

The two other men were Austin E. Berry, and Richard Minehan, both of Johnstown. Each of the three was 21 years old. The carbon monoxide gas came, it is said, from a small charcoal stove in the middle of the car. The fumes had seeped into the compartment and the men probably never realized they were being affected.

Democrats Start New Year Faced With Big Deficit

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The Democratic National Committee started the new year with a deficit of $232,795.35, it was disclosed in a report filed with the clerk of the house today by James W. Gerard, of New York, treasurer.

A large part of the debt is a hangover from the last presidential campaign.

The committee's unpaid obligations, as listed by Gerard, include: New York Trust Company, $152,700.00; Postal Telegraph Company $20,166.60; Isaac Goldman and Company, printing, $30,000; New York Times, $9,700.

Buoy Found On Coast Of New Foundland May Be Clue To Missing Fliers

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Jan. 6.—An inflated buoy, such as is included in the equipment of trans-Atlantic planes, has been picked up on the north shore of Newfoundland and is being forwarded here for examination, it was announced today. While no detailed description of the buoy has been received here, it is believed that it may be part of the equipment of one of the half dozen airplanes lost in attempts to cross the Atlantic in non-stop flights.

Neighbors' Petition May Bring Repairs

FEDERALSBURG, Md., Jan. 6.—Unwilling to lose from Bloomingdale Hill, Federalsburg, such good neighbors as Miss Annie Wright and her brother, Oscar, residents of the hill circulated and signed a petition which was forwarded to the owner of the house, in Baltimore, asking him to make repairs to the building so that the Wrights would not move away. "Miss Annie," as she is affectionately known to all, has lived in the same house on Bloomingdale Hill for over sixty years, now being seventy years old, and her brother has spent his life in it.

Edward E. Nuttle, a business man whose home is near that of the Wrights, drew up the petition to the owner. It is said the landlord has promised to do as requested.

Of course, it might be possible to make Russia stop hating capitalism, but it's a pretty long hop for Lindy.

The Daybook of a New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—"The Road to Rome," which made its initial appearance in New York on January 31, 1926, was revisited by us the other night and was discovered still to be the setting for a comedy blushing with sex, and likewise adorned with all the anti-war propaganda young Mr. Sherwood has been storing up in his heart for lo, these many moons since the armistice of 1918.

I agree heartily with all the author's impassioned pleas for eternal peace, but I sometimes got a little tired even of Miss Jane Cowl's silky voice trilling the lines. The speeches of double entendre, too, seemed to me to be delivered rather in the sledge-hammer manner, so that even the stupidest member of the audience got the idea. Maybe after nearly 12 months steady playing of one part, the most adroit actor becomes a little arid and no longer strives for perfection in his interpretation.

Miss Cowl is as beautiful as ever, and fits marvellously the role and the robes of the heart-hungry Amytis. She is enough to turn even the stern head of Hannibal, the conqueror. Sometimes when the script of a play refers to the heroine as utterly devastating, it is only too difficult for the audience to fill the illusion. Too often the lady chosen to illustrate the role is on the shady side of middle age, has hips and the voice of a brass gong. But Miss Cowl preserves the suppleness, the lithesomeness of 18; her supplicating looks, her mellow gestures, seem to be sufficiently entrancing to catch the dread Carthaginian's attention. She has a million outflung gestures for every page of the play's script.

At a dramatic moment in the entertainment my wife murmured, "Tie her hands and see if she can talk."

The last word in fiction writing jobs seems to me to belong to the luckless ones who fashion pint-size romances for the theater programs. The New York programs, by the way, are now small magazines in themselves, packed with epigrams, jests, fashion hints and tabloid love stories. Never a dull moment! While you go out to smoke, the little woman may store her mind with valuable hints for the morrow's shopping.

Girls on Fifth avenue these days are wearing silk stockings with heels adorned with a fleur de lis. It's not a particularly becoming style, because it usually calls attention to ankles that are not what they should be. Deliver me, anyhow, from the so-called "novelty" in dress. Men whose tastes run in the direction of the new and startling, who bloom out in green or mauve felt hats, whose shirts are of all shades of the spectrum, are few and far between. The average man is fearful of calling attention to his regalia. Except the musicians in the orchestra of the Rialto theater, in Times Square, I know of few Broadwayites who are daring enough to venture forth in soft, black, wide-brimmed hats and Byronic collars. The male ideal of dress is a dead level of mediocrity.

No wonder the burgher's wives one sees in those spaghetti palaces in the West Forties are billowing in fat! For a dollar and a half, in these places, one gets a dinner of such dimensions as to make the average patron let a few inches out of his belt. At one place in Forty-eighth street you begin with hors d'oevres (and very excellent ones), dip gratefully into a rich minestrone, proceed to fish, pause at a heaping ramekin of spaghetti, dally with roast chicken and green vegetables, survey the salad wistfully, and finish with a small Biscuit Tortoni and a lady finger. The food is really excellent. The service is swift and quiet. I have eaten meals at three and four times the price at restaurants of avowed reputations which did not approach this one for simple quality.

But what I really am puzzled by, when I dine at these places, is this: where does the white meat of the chicken go? Never, in all my years of ordering roast chicken at an Italian restaurant, have I been favored with the breast of the fowl, or even the back. Invariably the portion served is a leg and second joint. Since the table d'hote meal is the specialty of such places, and since one price only is stipulated, I cannot imagine where the other parts of the chicken are marketed. Unless the proprietor eats them all. And he is fat, but not that fat.

Butler Man Still Uses Gloves Bought In 1876

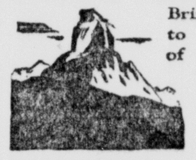

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 6.—J. D. Bowers, a resident here, displayed the other day a pair of gloves that has all the sterling qualities of the "good old days." The fur shows little signs of wear except in one or two places.

The gloves were purchased in 1876 at the John Wanamaker store in Philadelphia by Henry Bowers, father of the present owner, for $10, which was a very fancy price for such an article in those days.

Bowers was an oil well contractor and used the gloves constantly in his work.

They have been re-faced twice and relined twice.

School Children Sue Teacher For Slander

UTICA, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Four school children of the town of Verona, charging their teacher, Mrs. Ivy Davis, with slander, are asking damages of $1,000 from her in supreme court here. The children, through their father, Stanley H. Dickson, charge Mrs. Davis said they "lied, stole and came to school in a dirty, filthy condition."

The teacher, in a general denial, says whatever statements she made were in "the line of duty."

"The modern has no sentiment that ties him to one particular spot." No sentiment, perhaps; but there's the aerial.

HUMAN SOUL IS WIRELESS TOWER SCIENTIST SAYS

By HARRY BERGMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—What is the human soul?

This question, which, for ages past has baffled the greatest philosophers and engrossed, in Medieval times, the energies of necromancers and metaphysicians, now promises to be transferred from the mystic domain of theologians into the calm sphere of science.

"The soul is a wireless tower."

This was the answer given today by Captain Thomas J. J. See, professor of mathematics at Mare Island Naval Reserve and discoverer of the "New Theory of the Aether."

And if we are to regard that elusive soul as we look upon a radio transmitting and receiving station, delicately attuned to send and receive messages, wherein not one word is uttered nor one glance noted, then we may in terms of science, explain mental telepathy, thought transference, will imposition, dreams and their effects, and all the other strange psychic phenomenon which have puzzled men for centuries. Such is the contention of Captain See.

Instances Cited

Historic instances of premonition, the obedience of a sleeping man to the commands of one who is awake, hypnotism, soul harmony, personal magnetism and personality itself, if Captain See's theory is developed, will become subjects for scientific experimentation and threaten to disrupt the science of psychology, of which psychologists themselves admit, man has but reached the beginning of knowledge.

Blanketing the psychological ramifications of his study beneath his recently enunciated "New Theory of the Aether," Captain See, explained that all those eerie phenomenon, heretofore regarded as merely the workings of some mysterious will beyond the scope of men's minds, are truly but one aspect of his general theory that ether vibrations, enveloping the entire universe, of certain lengths and combinations, account for mental and spiritual, as well as physical phenomena.

"Mental and psychic phenomena," Captain See asserted, "are a part of the Wave-Theory of the universe. In fact, since radio telegraphy is so well known and so universally used, we may regard psychic phenomena as analagous to radio wave action.

Like Wireless Sets

"Persons who are en-rapport, or in psychic accord, are like two wireless stations or sets, attuned to transmit and receive thought-messages. Either station may call the other and thought-transference goes on. Each soul is a center of wave activity. The head of every person is surrounded by an Aethereal aura, not unlike the halo of glory shown by the old artists about heads of saints."

The ether is composed of the smallest particles in the world, the noted physicist continued, known as aetherons or corpuscles 4000 times small in diameter than hydrogen atoms. These aetherons, have not only the distinction of being the smallest objects in the universe, but they are also the speediest.

"By means of this new theory," Captain See declared, "we have a solid basis for phychic research. It will be by a study of mind waves that phychology will be reduced to a true science. In that study we have up to now made only a slight beginning.

Fear Of Life Called Chief Cause Of All Mental Disorders

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Mental disorders are brought about in man by the fear of life almost more than anything else.

When man gives up his life's work without leaving enough interests to give a real meaning to life, he runs a great risk of mental breakdown.

This is the substance of a report issued by the National Council of Mental Hygiene, who have recently finished a several years study of the causes which bring about mental disorders.

Unmarried men are more apt to lose their mind than those who have taken on all the responsibilities of life, while many mental breakdowns occur when the prospect of marriage is imminent, adds the report.

Denying that heredity has a great deal to do with the general cause of mental disorders, the report continues:

"Established mental disorder is only the result of a long series of morbid changes, initiated perhaps in childhood or youth, a series in which many of the stages are missing and the origin of which may be altogether hidden.

"The sudden flaring up of acute mental disorder is often only the terminal manifestation of a long process of slow combusion, smouldering during a period of years.

"Periodic examinations of disturbances from an early are are essential, especial attention being directed to the teeth and the state of the digestive organs. The public must learn to regard mental disturbance as something to be handled frankly and without prejudice — just like physical disease."

Governer's Room In Nebraska Capitol Is Unequalled In U. S.

(International News Service)

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 6. — The governor's reception room in the new Nebraska state capitol, reputed to be the only room of its kind in the United States, was opened to the public for the first time January 1, when Governor Adam McMullen and other state officers held a formal reception.

This reception room is one of four rooms included in the governor's suite, and is considered the most attractive feature of the already famous building, the designing of which was the last great work of the late Bertram Goodhue, New York architect.

The entire building embodies a new and distinctive type of architecture, which, together with exceptionally beautiful interior and exterior decorations, has attracted the attention of artists and architects throughout the world.

The mural paintings, which entirely cover the vaulted ceiling, cost approximately $150,000. They were done by August Vincent Tack, New York artist.

The reception room is designed on the style of a barrell vault, 26 feet high and 40 feet wide. It is medieval in character. A panelled walnut wainscot, eight feet high, surrounds the room. There are no raised mouldings. All the architectural structure above the wainscot, the divisions and borders surrending the panels, are painted. It is the first room in the United States to be done in this manner, in the opinion of Mr. Tack.

The floor is of red brick, while the curtains are of jade green damask, hanging in one piece. The furniture consists of low benches.

The murals consist almost entirely of figures of the Roman type symbolical of the state, its history, its resources and industries, its functions and its citizenship.

Council Members Split On Election Of Police Chief

Members Of Police Committee Fight For Reappointment Of Chief Teater

Open Bids On Repair Of Fire Department Building; Goes To Lowest Bidder

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 6.—At the first business meeting of the new council which took place Thursday evening in the city building, members of the police committee and Burgess Evans recommended the appointment of N. J. Teater as chief of police for the ensuing year.

The president put the motion to a vote of council for acceptance or rejection with an "aye" vote. There seemed to be some discussion as to the number of members for and against, so a roll call vote was taken and the motion lost with seven against and four for it.

The councilmen then rose and gave talks for or against Chief Teater according to their personal convictions. Nearly all admitted that they had no personal feelings against the man, and many did not even know nim. They merely went on the assumption that they were in office to serve the public and that there was public sentiment against the chief. J. S. Bowater of the police committee stated that any man in public office, especially that of chief of police, is subject to criticism both just and unjust, and he felt that at first when Chief Teater went on duty he might have been a trifle officious, but as time went on, pursued his duties to the best of his ability.

Others stated that there were others on the police force that might make a good chief of police.

W. G. Duncan arose at this point and with a complimentary speech introduced the name of Police Officer Chasey for second choice as chief of police. He stated that Officer Chasey had sent no application for the office, and would not while Chief Teater's application was in. A new member, J. E. Powell, asked for time on the matter. He stated that appointing a chief of police was an important matter and shouldn't be gone into hurriedly, and that the members should be absolutely certain that the man they choose was the man for the job. A vote was taken on this motion and carried with Mr. Teater acting until next month.

Bids on Repair Work.

Bids which were advertised for repairing the roof of the fire department building were opened by the secretary last night and read as follows: H. J. Payne, $98; Measle Brothers, $78; Bowers & Wehman, $71; F. A. Frishkorn, $125. The contract was awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, under the supervision of the fire and water committee.

At the opening of the meeting several communications were read as follows:

A letter from the fire department asking the members of council to be their guests at an oyster supper the night of January 14, in the building, and extending season's greetings. A letter from the Chamber of Commerce thanking council for its cooperation in the recent Christmas festivities. This communication was received and placed on file. A letter was read addressed to Alec Main asking that some member of the council attend the annual road show in Cleveland the week of January 9, put on by the American Road Building association. This was sent from the city manager of Cleveland, and it was voted that the members of the street committee attend the show. Sandstone curbing values were explained in a letter from the Ellwood Stone company. This was received and placed on file.

Grading Assessments.

Outstanding paving and grading assessments up to Sept. 1, 1925, are $5,554.55. Also sewer assessments to December 1, 1924, $1,330.01. This matter was referred to the members of the finance committee for collection.

Members of the police committee recommended that R. B. Luke be retained as attorney to the burgess at the same salary as last year. This recommendation was granted.

Harry Wolfe and Ferm Schmille were appointed to continue as drivers of the fire department trucks, and Harvey Christy was appointed to continue as janitor of the ctiy building.

Council authorized the finance committee to draw up an ordinance stating the salaries of the city officials for the past two years, as is customary. The police committee reported that the city police garage was in need of repair and oil and gas were needed for the year. Motion was carried to advertise for bids on oil and gas.

Rotarians Have Fine Time With New Years' Vows

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

Seiberling's $57,000 Loan Gets Him 6 Million Backing

Broadway's "Angel" Of Free Show Revealed "Grubstaking" Man Who Befriended Him

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Edgar B. Davis the "angel" of the only free show ever presented on Broadway, today was revealed as a man who "grubstaked" a friend for $6,000,000 in gratitude for a $57,000 loan which led to his own entry into the millionaire class.

The friend was Frank A. Seiberling. The two men met in New York 20 years ago when Davis was president of the United States Tire and Rubber company and Seiberling Rubber Co. was head of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.

Davis later quit the rubber industry and spent his entire fortune in a vain search for oil in Texas. Pressed for money but confident he would strike oil he appealed to Seiberling whom he had not seen for ten years. Seiberling loaned him $57,000. Davis struck oil and sold his holdings to the Standard Oil Co. for $12,000,000.

In 1920 finding himself out of Goodyear and virtually "broke" Seiberling organized a rubber company, bearing his name. His assets were taken over by the Prudential Securities Co. which Davis helped organize putting in $500,000 himself and endorsing notes for $5,500,000.

Last year Seiberling rubber returned a net profit of $1,356,707 and a few days ago Seiberling took up the notes and released Davis as guarantor. Davis refused to accept interest, Seiberling said.

The two have now organized a new corporation which holds 131,000 shares of Goodyear common stock valued at yesterday's closing prices as $9,170,000.

Davis came into public notice when he backed "The Ladder" known as the greatest flop ever to enjoy a run on Broadway. The play opened in October, 1926 and has been a financial failure since its opening night. Davis is estimated to have lost $750,000 on the production but has announced he has no intention of withdrawing it. The play deals with reincarnation, a theory Davis encountered in India and in which he firmly believes. Admission to the show recently has been free.

The Story Of Fort Phil Kearney—Part VIII
Attack On The Wood Train

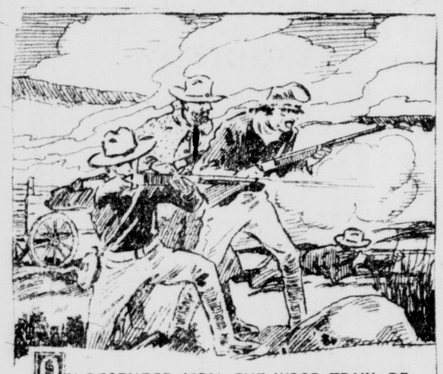

A GENERAL VIEW OF FORT PHIL KEARNEY.

CARRINGTON'S TROOPS AT FORT PHIL KEARNEY CONTINUED THEIR LOGGING EXPEDITIONS AFTER THE WINTER OF 1866 HAD SET IN AND BY THE LATTER PART OF DECEMBER THE DEFENSES WERE FINISHED. BUT THE COMPLETION OF THE FORT BROUGHT THE GARRISON NO FEELING OF SECURITY. REINFORCEMENTS WERE NEEDED BADLY, AND THERE WERE ONLY FORTY ROUNDS OF AMMUNITION TO EACH MAN.

HUNDREDS OF MILES AWAY, IN WASHINGTON, ON DEC. 8, 1866, PRESIDENT JOHNSON CONGRATULATED CONGRESS UPON THE SIGNING OF THE TREATY WITH THE SIOUX AT FORT LARAMIE, AND THE REIGN OF PEACE IN THE FAR WEST. AT THAT VERY MOMENT, FORT PHIL KEARNEY WAS ALMOST IN A STATE OF SIEGE.

ON DECEMBER 19TH, THE WOOD TRAIN, RETURNING FROM THE PINEY ISLAND LOGGING CAMP, WAS ATTACKED BY A HORDE OF REDSKINS. A PICKET POST SIGNALLED THE FORT, AND A STRONG CAVALRY DETACHMENT UNDER CAPTAIN POWELL DASHED OUT TO RESCUE THE TRAIN.

THE ASSAILANTS FLED, BUT POWELL, OBEYING ORDERS NOT TO PURSUE THE HOSTILES, HALTED ON LODGE TRAIL RIDGE AND, TURNING, LED HIS COMMAND AND THE TRAIN BACK TO THE POST IN SAFETY.

BEST GUARDED SECRET OF WAR WAS 'ROOM 40'

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Heretofore unknown ramification of the famous "Room 40" frequently described as "the best kept secret of the World War," were disclosed at Edinburgh by Sir Alfred Ewing, who in 1914 was in charge of the room.

"Room 40" was a department at the British Admiralty known to very few persons. Its business was to decipher German radio messages, and, as a result, every movement by German warships was known in advance to the British Government.

As an example of the information thus obtained, the British Navy was enabled to go out to meet the Germans in the battle of the Dogger Bank and Jutland.

Famous Messages

"Room 40" also deciphered the message from the German U-boat which sank the Lusitania, and it revealed the German intrigue with Mexico that brought the United States into the World War.

Relating his facinating story of espionage and counter-espionage, Sir Alfred Ewing said that at the outbreak of the war he was director of naval education. At that time there was no department for dealing with ciphers, and he was asked by the Government to undertake the work.

"I got a few friends to come and help me," Sir Alfred said. "We worked hard and had remarkable luck. The staff of cryptographers was gradually increased until it numbered 50. Numerous listening stations were set up at which the German fleets signals and other messages were systematically taken in and from which they were telegraphed to the Admiralty to be deciphered. When the work had passed its initial stage, as many as 2,000 intercepted messages were dealt with in 24 hours.

"In this way a close and constant watch was kept on the German fleet, and information was obtained beforehand of their respective movements. Thus it was, for example, that the British Admiralty knew the day before the Battle of Dogger Bank what German ships were coming out, at what time they were coming, and where they were going.

Aid To Navy

"All this information was obtained from signals from German headquarters to the ships concerned. It was obtained in good time to enable the British Admiralty to arrange for suitable counter-measures.

"Next morning the Battle of Dogger Bank began. The watchers in the Admiralty, deciphering every signal."

So the old-fashioned educational system produced abler men, eh? And the proof is—er—you?

COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE NOW MEANS NOTHING

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Companionate marriage "really means nothing at all," in the opinion of Count Hermann Keyserling, Esthonian philosopher and author of "The Book of Marriage," who has arrived in the United States for a lecture tour.

Companionate marriage, which has received such a great deal of publicity during the recent weeks, is merely a "more or less new formula set up by women to produce the same-age-old conventional results," Keyserling said. Companionate marriage does not mean the early death of the old fashioned marriage. Instead of greater freedom which it is supposed to produce, it will merely make for more conventional results. "People will marry earlier—and oftener."

Era of Emergency

"If men had made the rules, Keyserling continued, "they would not have invented companionate marriages. They would say, 'Let's enjoy the world first and marry afterwards.'

"But this is an age marked by the sudden emergence of the feminine. This present age has shown the gradual rise and predominance of women—all over the world and in all walks of life. Woman's cry for 'equality' is a false one. They are really striving for supremacy.

"This always has been ture of America, where women began to predominate from pioneer times due to their scarcity and great demand. They developed a matriarchal civilization, where, ostensibly, the men rule, but where the power behind—the real living power—is in the hands of women. Women make the rules and men break them.

Marriage Is Best

"The conventional marriage is superior to any temporary arrangement," Keyserling added. "People in the masses need institutions—need something bigger than themselves. Perhaps that is why people in the East are happier in their domestic relationship, because they submerge their individuality and their quarrels in the institution."

Anyone who thinks conventional marriage is due for an early death because of the development of and the competition offered by companionate marriage, is due for some disappointment, Keyserling thinks.

Neither will companionate marriage cure the divorce evil, the Court thinks. Instead of approaching the problem form the proper angle of encouraging more sober thought and reflection on the part of principals before contracting matrimony, companionate marriage encourages matrimony first and thought afterwards.

Seneca Indians Win Hearing In Court To Try Royalty Claims

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 6—An order permitting the Seneca Indian Nation of the Tonowanda Reservation to come into court to testify regarding a question that involves the payment of several hundred thousand dollars in royalties to them has been signed by Supreme Court Justice Charles H. Brown.

The Indians petitioned the court to obtain judicial settlement of the question as to whether the tribe or individual Indians are entitled to the royalties paid on gypsum mined on the reservation lands.

Since 1921 the Universal Gypsum Company has paid out large sums to the tribe. Individual owners of the land maintain that they should receive the payments.

The test action is being brought by Mrs. Jennie Parker, owner of land from which the mineral is being taken.

May Use Ancient Book At Prayers

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Westminster Gazette says that at an adjourned meeting of archbishops and bishops in Lambeth palace January 11 to consider the crisis precipitated by the house of commons' rejection of the revised prayerbook several solutions of the problem will be postponed.

The chief suggestion, says the paper, will be for the use of the prayerbook of Edward VI of 1549, which had the full sanction of parliament, this is the first edition of the prayerbook and was the work of Thomas Cranmer and others after the Reformation. This prayerbook has an alternative title for the communion service, namely, "commonly called the mass',, and the Virgin Mary is commemorated by name in it.

He was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 which he appealed.

Tiny Feathered Folk Set Out To Be Cattle

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The importance of an early decision on the question whether baby chicks may be classed with cattle and other live stock has been recognized by the Supreme Court.

That tribunal today advanced for hearing on April 9 next a case brought to test out the authority of Oregon, Washington and Idaho to prohibit the admission of California chicks unless accompanied by an official certificate that they are free from certain hereditary diseases.

The court will decide whether, as in the case of cattle, the chicks come solely under the Federal law in interstate commerce. The case was brought by an incubator company.

ALL NIGHT STREET PARKING IN CITY TO BE CHECKED

Council in session today at the city building decided to curb the practice of alleged all night parking of automobiles and trucks in the streets of the city. Their plan took on shape when Solicitor Robert White was ordered to prepare an ordinance which, if passed will make 'all night parking' a violation of law.

Councilman D. O. Davies remarked to colleagues that three years ago he gathered such an ordinance and after it had been passed the bill was repealed because it did not suit certain people. According to councilmanic thought expressed today the ordinance will be passed unless they exercise a woman's perogative to change their mind.

The instruction to Solicitor White followed a suggestion of Councilman Clayton Reeves that restriction should be placed on parking of automobiles in the business district after one a. m. as the city plans to operate a street sweeper after one a. m. next spring. He said cars parked against curbs would interfere with operation of the sweeper.

A general discussion followed and according to different councilmen there are owners of cars who park their machines in front of their residences all night in various parts of the city. It was also stated that in the business section "night hawks" park their cars late at night along the curb hoping to inveigle a girl friend into an auto ride.

This brought forth the declaration that were an ordinance passed prohibiting all night parking, policemen would have the authority to tag the automobile and have it removed to a garage at the expense of the owner. This practice, Solicitor White told councilmen is in vogue in many cities.

The ordinance will act as a stimulus to officers who will be expected to investigate parked cars as it is reported that recently two stolen automobiles were abandoned in west side streets, one being abandoned in front of an official's home. By investigating the parking officers will know where the car has been taken.

According to councilmen, they believe that owners of automobiles should drive their machines into a driveway or have a garage. However, should a party be in progress at someone's home there will be no molestation and the policeman who happens to see the cars parked will be expected to use judgment and meander on his way.

Reeves said that it would be farthest from his mind to have any person bothered who is attending a party while Tyler said that "a ball might be going on downtown at one a. m.", Councilman Burns jocularly remarking: "I'm against anything that will make a young man get a permit to park his car so he can see his girl."

Generally speaking the councilmen, excepting Mr. Burns, who is quite uncommital, want an ordinance written that will curb the practice of persons making an all night garage of the street. As they explained today in their expressions this is being done now, several specific instances being known personally to the solons.

Kenny Transfer Co. Truck Of Pittsburgh Turns Turtle; Men In Local Hospital

Frank King and Casimar Pilarski, both of Pittsburgh, are confined in the Shenango Valley hospital as the result of injuries sustained this morning when the truck in which they were riding from Pittsburgh skidded on an icy hill between Wampum and New Castle and turned turtle pinning the occupants beneath.

Both men were painfully injured. Mr. King sustained a contusion of the left leg, lacerated cheek and cut in the eye. Mr. Pilarski had his left hip badly hurt and received many bruises.

The men were employed by the Kinney Transfer Co., of Pittsburgh. The truck in which they were riding was filled with crates of eggs.

City Officials To Attend "Road Show"

Councilman Clayton H. Reeves, F. F. Miller, engineer, and his assistant, Hoskins, Street Commissioner Harry Moore, Councilman Davies and perhaps other city officials will visit the "road show at Cleveland next week."

They will inspect rollers and sweepers on exhibition as the city expects to purchase street improvement machinery.

The city will pay one day's hotel expense for all excepting the councilmen.

Reeves said today he would use his machine to haul the city employes there and there would be no expense on his part.

Postpone Meeting On Building Code

There will be no hearing on the building code ordinance next Wednesday, councilmen having decided that it can lay a few days to give city officials a chance to attend the "Road Show" at Cleveland.

Council proposed to sit in informal session and discuss certain angles of the building code now in committee. CITY OFFICIALS

ENGLAND MAKES BIG HEADWAY IN CIVIL AVIATION

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 6.—That civil aviation in England is steadily advancing toward commercial stability is demonstrated in the report of Imperial Airways, Limited, the semi-official State-subsidized aircraft concern, for the financial year 1926-27.

Allowing for the State subsidy, the company's net profit for the year amounted to nearly $60,000, compared with a net loss of $100,000 for the previous year. The directors justifiably claim this to be a big step towards the making of a profit without the subsidy.

The company's figures compare favorably with any other European civil aviation concern. Last year they carried 16,700 passengers, and since January 1, 1925 to date have carried 52,000 passengers and have flown nearly 2 1-2 million miles without a single accident causing injury to their passengers.

Revenue From Service

Sir Eric Geddes, chief director of the firm, believes that the improvement in the company's position has been entirely brought about by the incorporation of speedier, more comfortable, and generally more up-to-date planes in the company's service. The bulk of the revenue is drawn from the London-Paris service, which operates all the year around.

On this route sixteen new airplanes, ranging from 1,275 to 710 horsepower capacity, have recently been introduced and have proved popular with business men and tourists by virtue of their smooth running and general adherence to a fixed time-table.

In all the company has twenty planes, four of which are of the cargo-carrying type, and are used almost exclusively for this purpose.

The passenger carrying planes are all named after cities or Royal personages. The "City" class includes the "City of New York" and the "City of Washington," and whatever possible American tourists endeavor to travel by these planes when making the cross-Channel trip.

Service To Cairo

This company is now operating a service in the Middle East, and has a weekly service between Cairo and Basra and vice versa. At the moment this service is showing an appreciable loss, but it is hoped that with increasing use more passengers will be attracted to this speedier means of accomplishing the desert journey.

Sir Eric Geddes, in letter to shareholders, sums up the report in saying: 'We can fly more miles at a profit if we can get more traffic." He declares that flying is as safe as that of any other travel medium, and that the fares generally compare favorably with the railroads. For instance, the fare by airplane to Paris is now slightly lower than by railroad and sea as the result of a recent price-cutting war between the English company and the Air Union, of Paris.

AGED WOMAN DRIVES 30,000 MILES IN YEAR

(International News Service)

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 6.—Mrs. Myra Allison, 81, travels more than a debutante.

She follows the season as accurately as the birds, and is a familiar figure at seasonal resorts.

During the last year she traveled 30,000 miles, mostly by automobile, with one airplane ride and a few train journeys thrown in. Next summer she will tour Europe.

"There is no excuse for people growing old, reflects the woman who rode her automobile from New York to Seattle this summer as calmly as a stenographer rides the subway.

"Continued youth is the condition of surrounding one's self with young people and actually keeping abreast of the times. When horses were supplanted by automobiles, I bought a motor car, and within another few years I plan to have an airplane.

"A short time ago I made my first trip in the air. It was delightful, invigorating and an exhilarating mode of transportation. If I had a pilot like Lindbergh, I would do all my traveling by plane."

Mrs. Allison was born in Ohio, and is the mother of James A. Allison, one of the founders of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. She calls Indianapolis home, but spends little time there.

Fresh air and plain foods are Mrs. Allison's only rules for health.

"I follow the seasons at resorts so that I can always be in the open air. Sunshine, easily digested foods and frequent bathing—all are essential to health," she recommends.

She sleeps from midnight until 6 or 7 o'clock in the morning.

Famous Men As Mechanical Toys Latest Novelty

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Britain's distinguished statesmen and America's noted film comedians form the subjects of the majority of the toy novelties displayed by the London sidewalk hawkers.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, for instance, may be seen complete with monocle strutting and turning wonderful somersaults at amazing speed, while Charles Chaplin gives a faithful imitation of his well-known comic walk.

A smiling Lloyd George, dressed in black morning coat, striped pants and silk hat, is guaranteed to turn a dozen somersaults and finish up standing on his head. Lord Oxford, the former Liberal Party leader, with a grin almost as wide as his face, also performs wonderful acrobatic feats.

The finest endowment policy ever bestowed upon a man is the ability to work, the desire to work, and the enjoyment of work.

New Studebaker Model Is Shown

"The President" Is Beauty; Shown By Barnes-Snyder Company

With the lines that bespeak the very aristocracy of the motor industry the new Studebaker model, "The President" is on display in the sales rooms of the Barnes-Snyder Company. No previous model of the Studebaker Co. has the harmony of line and perfection of proportion that is the President's.

In length it is 131 inches long, a regal looking job, with springs and weight that promis ease in riding not often attained. The body is in reality a custom job for the designer has been a custom built designer for many years.

All of the fittings are of chrome steel, non-rusting and guaranteed to withstand the ravages of weather stain. Two spare wheels are carried, one on each side of the front end of the running boards, the wheels being wire, with balloon tires 31x6.20.

The trunk carrier on the back is of a new design holding two suit cases and a hat box. Because of the length of the car, the rear doors are full size, a comfortable arrangement.

For starting purposes there is a light on the instrument board that illuminates the starting apparatus and after starting this is switched for indirect lighting of the board.

The selling price of the new President is $2,450 but a full front view of it gives the impression that it is a much more expensive car. The Studebaker people have scored in their new model and the demonstration car on display in the Barnes-Snyder Company is attracting hundreds of motor lovers.

Police May Present Jaywalking Cards

Council in legislative session at the city building today decided to take a courteous step toward prevention of accidents by having police present cards to jaywalkers, stating that they have violated certain rules of safety first.

While it is admitted New Castle is not famed for jaywalking, yet jaywalking is practiced by some persons and in adopting the accident prevention plan solons hope to make New Castle conspicuous by an absence of jaywalking.

In some cities police make arrests for jaywalking but the practice will not be adopted here. Instead a campaign to last one week will be inaugurated soon and it is probable that the step toward accident prevention will be far-reaching in effect.

There are several traffic policemen on duty in the business section and they will be given the cards which will in substance, ask pedestrians to cease jaywalking. The card will bear a courteous request and will be a reminder to the citizens.

The pedestrians will be expected to obey the traffic lights; amber, to get ready, green to "go" and red to "stop". They will be expected to discontinue crossing highways at an point except a street intersection.

The card also will serve as a reminder that "ducking" between automobiles is a bad practice and it is considered poor form for a person in an automobile to depart through a door that is not next to the street curb.

Probabilities are that the week's campaign which will be intensive will help make New Castle as near a "jaywalkerless" town as possible. School children on account of instruction and constant reminders are the best disciples of safety first.

Persons who are presented with the cards, according to city officials should not feel hurt as the move has been ordered adopted for their benefit as lack of jaywalking, not only will go toward lessening accident but will expedite traffic.

Blind Brass Band Of London Beggars Do Heavy Business

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 6. — Nine London beggars make up the "London B. B. B. corporation" and not one of the three "B's" stands for "beggar". The mysterious letters, it is learned, stand for "Blind Brass Band".

For years this "band" has joined in its novel way the overflowing ranks of London beggars. Blaring notes of old hymns—"The Shepherd Watched the Flocks," "Jerusalem the Golden," etc—are the corporation's contribution to London's gaiety. The shoppers' contributions to the corporation are none the less great. Secret corporation policy forbids that the exact figures be disclosed. "They are reckoned," it is known, in "pounds per hours."

The six band players are said to be blind. "Special pointers" one of the men told me, "print our music so that we can feel the notes with the fingers." As to how the men became blind: "Natural causes" was the only answer I could get.

A seventh man, "a sighted man", is the band's leader. He keeps in the background; the force behind the corporation's "throne", the company's big executive. The last two of the nine are women. They appear dressed in black gowns like the pictures of "Mother Goose". The women look sad and carry bottles that rattle with pennies inside.

Whether women automobile drivers are a public danger is a question now being debated by the English press and public.

New Castle Will Play Evans City Quintet Tonight

New Castle High Basketball Team To Open 1928 W. P. I. A. L. Season Tonight

GIRLS TO BATTLE IN PRELIMINARY

Tonight throughout Western Pennsylvania the barrier will be sprung, and countless scores of High School basketball teams will start the race for the 1928 W. P. I. A. L. championship. New Castle High opens with Evans City here at the Senior High gym.

The preliminary game tonight between the New Castle and Evans City High girls teams will start at 7:30 o'clock, according to word from Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner. The boys' game will follow immediately after the girls finish their battle.

New Castle High is on the threshold of another successful basketball season is the indication from their pre-season victories. With four lettermen on the varsity squad from the team that captured the W. P. I. A. L. championship last season, the New Castle team looks to be about the cream of Section III.

Lineup Is Uncertain

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh, the silent man of Senior High School as usual is saying little, but doing a powerful lot of thinking. The red and black passers have been staging workouts this week under the careful eye of the popular mentor and have advanced to within mid-season form. Bridenbaugh has not intimated what his starting lineup for tonight will be, but it is the general opinion that Reider, Cuba, Alexander, Sillman and Ostrosky will get the call. In reserve Bridenbaugh will have Thomas, Johnson, Kulich, Turk, and McClelland.

Little is known of the relative strength of the Evans City High crew this year, but it can be expected that the Butler Countians will bring a strong team to this city for their initial league encounter. Evans City has never been considered a dangerous opponent, but they generally manage to make a lot of trouble for the leaders.

While New Castle is battling Evans City High here, the other league teams will be playing as follows: Butler at New Brighton; Ellwood City at Beaver Falls; and Mars at Zelienople.

The New Castle High varsity girls team will start their 1928 season tonight by meeting Evans City High in the preliminary attraction. Coach Miss Boyd has had the girls at practice for the past month and they have formulated a fast aggregation.

Just how the New Castle maidens will lineup tonight is not known for certainty, but it is probable that the following girls will start the fray; forwards, Ponion and Clark, center, Platner, side-center, Patton, guards, Wygonoski and Kaufman.

Tonight is bargain night at Senior High, two good games for the price of one, and indications point to a large crowd in attendance.

PITT GRIDDERS ON WAY HOME

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6. — Jock Sutherland and his University of Pittsburgh gridders were enroute East from here today, having passed through San Francisco on their return trip from Pasadena, where they took the short end of a 7 to 6 score in the annual inter-sectional Tournament of Roses game with Stanford last Monday.

For the first time in the history of the legal profession in England, husband and wife appeared in court the other day as joint counsel in a case.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Paris Kid Cangie has shaken the snow of New Castle from his tobogans and is now located in New York, according to an advertisement carried in a national boxing magazine. The advertisement says that the Kid's services are for sale and they can be had by communicating with Leo Flynn, who trained Jack Dempsey for his fights with Jack Sharkey and Champion Gene Tunney.

This line causes us to recall he is the second New Castle boxer who went to Flynn after leaving this city, Mickie Forkins, welterweight, having been the first. Later Forkins went to Chicago and more recently staged an appearance in Columbus, O. Local fans will keep an eye peeled on what the Mahoningtown Kid does in the east.

Probabilities are that Bill Jolly and Tommy Maxwell of Erie could help each other were they to form an agreement to use boxers who make good showings at their clubs. For instance if pugilists at Erie pleased the fans they could be shown here. The same would apply to boxers appearing at the Armory A. A.

In these days of "I want so much or I won't fight," promoters find it difficult to do business with managers. The same rule applies to promoters who do not care to pay fair prices for talent. As both will use the same class of preliminary bouts it would be a good move for the two promoters to keep each other posted.

Joe Cumo said a mouthful a few days ago which the writer hopes he meant. Joe said: "I will let Emmett Rocco fight at the Armory A. A. to help get the club started on the right foot." We suggested that he let Mr. Rocco battle one Pedro Lopez whom persons say could give Rocco a fight.

Cumo said that while he personally would not stand in the way of a match he thought Emmett might refuse owing to personal reasons but not among them the fear Lopez might beat him. Both are big fellows and if they could be brought together it would give local fans a chance to see two heavyweights show their worth.

GENE TUNNEY DENIES STORY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Gene Tunney Thursday issued an unqualified denial of a story to the effect that he virtually had closed negotiations to fight Paulino Uzcudun on the coast in July and Jack Dempsey here in September as his promised dual defense of the heavyweight championship this year. The champion characterized the story as "absurd."

New Castle Boy Making Good On Geneva Quintet

Leonard Friedman, Former New Castle High Star, Playing Forward At Geneva

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 6.—A series of stiff games preliminary to the opening of the collegiate basketball season has enabled Coach "Bo" McMillin to gauge the ability of Geneva's basketball squad. Letter-men from last year's varsity who are certain to retain their positions are Capt. Rubenstein, Friedman, Merriman, Emrick and Lloyd. Ransom, Burgettstown high product, if he recovers from his leg injury, may supplant Lloyd at center. Other men who are in the limelight are Sole from Weirton, Mesnick from Cleveland and Knapik of Youngstown. The collegiate season opens next Tuesday with Tech in Beaver Falls. The plebes will play the strong Geneve Reserves as a preliminary game.

Geneva hopes to finish high in the conference race and improve last year's position, third place. Undoubtedly the squad is stronger than that of last year and is ably led by Maurice Rubenstein, Pittsburgh boy. Geneva plays the General Tires in Akron on Saturday night.

Ty Cobb May Not Play This Year

Unless Some Owner Breaks Out In Rash Of Money Ty Will Remain Idle

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Ty Cobb is through with the playing end of baseball unless something "mighty unusual" comes along to entice him back to the game.

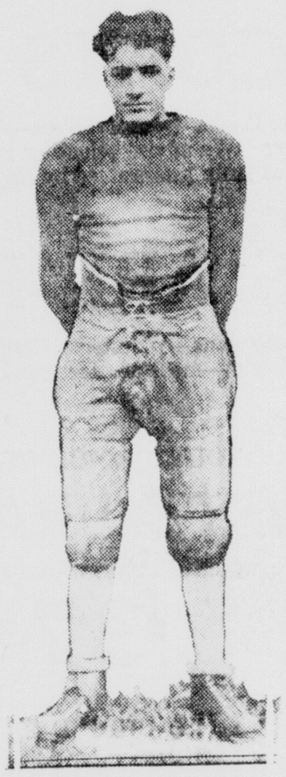

Cobb, who came to Washington to get some of his not inconsiderable income tax matters straightened out with Uncle Sam, told friends he did not know where he was going to be the coming season. He may not be in the game at all, he said, and certainly not as a player unless some magnate breaks out in a rash of real money.

Cobb said he would like to continue his association with baseball in an owner's capacity, but has nothing in sight in that line.

Pay High Tribute To "Tip" Richards

Graduate Manager Of Carnegie Tech Is Principal Speaker

PRESENT "TIP" WITH VALUABLE TOKENS

CHARLES RICHARDS

Two hundred football fans from all walks of life gathered last night in Humbert hall at a spaghetti banquet where tribute was paid to Charles (Tip) Richards, captain of the 1927 New Castle high school varsity football team.

During the banquet, at which Attorney Thomas Dickey was toastmaster and the principal address was made by Clarence Overend, graduate manager of Carnegie Tech, the popular gridiron player was presented with a number of valuable tokens of esteem by friends.

The testimonial dinner was one of the largest ever given an athlete here and all of Captain Richards' football mates were present. The spaghetti, cooked by Mrs. Pete Biondi and assistants, was most delicious and it was served by a score of pretty girls.

Westminster Meets Grove City Tonight

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 6.—Twelve basketball players, Coach John Lawther, student managers and more than 100 students and townspeople will journey to Grove City tonight to see the Grove City-Westminster court game.

While Coach John Lawther has not indicated what men will start the game this evening against the Grovers, it is almost certain that the five men who started the tilts against Butler Y. M. C. A. and Slippery Rock State Teachers College will be used. These men are: Captain Lewis and O'Donovan, guards; Connor, center; McMeekin and Delahunty, forwards.

In addition to these men, Crowell, Holzapfel, Ayers, Armour, Fisher, William Lewis, and Witherspoon will be available.

Following the last practice last evening, Coach Lawther and his men were plainly perplexed about the improvement shown by the Crimson tossers during the last two weeks. While a victory over Grove City would mean much to the Titans, there is little optimism concerning such a possibility. Westminster looks for the hardest game on the 1928 schedule tonight, and while the United Presbyterians are conceded a chance of breaking almost even with the Presbyterians, it is thought that the home floor advantage, experience gained in recent games, and the prestige of the Grovers will result in a Crimson victory.

Loughran-Lomski Battle Tonight In Garden Bout

Loughran Favored Over Leo Lomski In Battle At New York City

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Tommy Loughran, champion, and Leo Lomski challenger, will meet tonight in a fifteen round bout at Madison Square Garden for the world's light-heavyweight championship.

This simply worded paragraph tells a story without amplification and embellishment, therefore it tells almost nothing. It takes no cognizance, for example, of the fact that a great fight not only is in prospect, but also that, seemingly, a great fight is inevitable. It doesn't tell of the fact that both of the principals feel they are on their way to bigger and finer things like the heavyweight championship and that they regard tonight's activities as the first, and therefore the most important step toward achieving the ambition in question. It doesn't say that Loughran is a fighting champion or that Lomski is the most worthy of challengers. It is the skimmed milk of what probably will be a rather frothy occasion.

For all anyone knows at this premature moment, either or both of the principals can hold his own with all the heavyweights in the land. This is the way they are figuring it, anyhow, and so they will eye one another tonight from opposite corners with the calculating apprisal that is the tacit admiration of one fighting man for another.

England's oldest twins are Mrs. Jemina Clarke and Mrs. Keziah Stubley, of Nottingham, who have just celebrated their ninety-third birthday anniversary.

Pugilists Settle Down To Training

Eight Will Participate In Four Six-Round Bouts Tuesday

O'DONNELL TO BOX CLEVER FRANKIE RIO

By ED. FRITZ

News having been broadcast that eight disciples of the Art of Busting Ears will cavort in four fracases Tuesday night at the Jolly emporium, known as the old Armory, leaves nothing to the imagination unless it be the rigorous training of the furious and what may and may not happen when the pugilists answer the gong.

No attempt having been made to lure the high priced glove gladiators into the ring, the fans can look forward to a night of fight as all of the boys on the fight menu hope to establish a reputation rather than defend one. Peculiar as it may sound most fighters stage far more impressive performances while going up the ladder than after they have reached their objective.

Jack Herman of Cleveland and Frankie Ritz of New Castle each weighing 160 pounds. Any person who knows how to hit can certainly strike a hard blow, especially so when 160 pounds of beef is unleashed behind a shoulder. Herman and Ritz are tough and in expectancy of a gruelling bout have settled down to training. Herman is preparing himself in the city of Cleveland and Ritz in New Castle.

What Pugilists Do

The training consists of five miles of run, jog and walk after which the fighters box six rounds, pull the weights, skip rope and shadow box. Generally middleweights employ a lightweight as a training partner for the purpose of developing speed. They train on the principle that a fly is more fleet than a chicken.

But the middleweights will not be the only pebbles in the ring. Promoter Jolly having engaged that hard-socking, elusive Mickie Solomon to appear in the next to last six round bout. It is somewhat of a difficult problem to secure an opponent for Mickie. The promoter does not want a foe who is too good nor one not good enough, so fans readily can see Jolly's predicament.

Frankie Rio of Cleveland and Jimmie O'Donnell, junior lightweights should furnish action. Frankie is said to be a fast boxer while Jimmie is tough. Once upon a time Jimmie was right hand crazy and depended upon one member to win his fights but it is believed he may have gotten away from that style.

After California Gold

By Feg Murray

Today the third annual Los Angeles open golf tournament starts, with Tommy Armour, one of America's "Big Three," as the center of attraction. It takes a Jones, a Hagan, or an Armour to get the natives really excited out there, for they have such an abundance of "home brew" that real golf is nothing unusual. There are Harry Cooper, winner of the first Los Angeles open, and Willie Hunter, the present state open champion, to mention only two of the local celebrities.

But to get back to Tommy Armour, who is really a Scotchman and the present open champion of these United States and also of those Canada. It will be remembered that Tommy won the U. S. title last June because he could come from behind, because he could play Oakmont's short holes, and because he is the finest iron-player in the game today. Folks still talk about Tommy's final birdie 3 that tied Cooper in a dramatic finish (each golfer getting a 301) and then of how he went on to win the play-off, 76-79, after tying the score with a fifty-foot putt.

Then, less than two months later, Armour went on to win the Canadian open crown, beating Mac Smith by one stroke with a fine score of 288. Again Tommy thrilled the gallery by his courage and his shot-making ability in the face of adversity, just as, in spite of the loss of an eye in the world war, he rose from the ranks to a major's commission. After four years of war, what's a little thing like an open golf tournament?

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Vic Hanson, one of the outstanding collegiate athletic stars of recent years, has stepped out of professional basketball after a brief but hectic experience in the game. He was one of the stars of the Cleveland club of the American league, though a newcomer, when he quit, and the decision was prompted by his desire to begin his vocation—that of football coach—early.

He will return to college coaching ranks immediately and eventually join the list of head coaches in the east.

He played enough professional basketball, however, to learn first hand the difference in the game as compared to collegiate basketball and takes with him into the college gym some ideas regarding the game that he believes will be of value.

"Pro basketball has been developed far beyond the collegiate game," says Hanson. "Rotation of the ball and the cut-in are two angles that illustrate the point."

"In the pro game the ball is never passed in a haphazard manner. It is known that the second time a given player receives the ball another player is supposed to be set to take the throw and shoot for the basket, etc.

"The cut-in is a clever method of eluding the player following you and giving you a chance to take the ball and pass it or shoot for the basket. This is accomplished with the aid of one of your own men. By jockeying for position he places himself so that when you cut toward him your guard suddenly finds himself literally cut away from you by your brother player, leaving you free to dash down the floor and re-enter the play.

"These are just two instances of the science injected into the game."

Hanson felt, however, as though two or three seasons in pro basketball would take him out of touch with the collegiate sports, and he intends to follow coaching for some years at least.

Talk turned to football eventally—Hanson's favorite game. I asked Hanson to choose an all-eastern team from the men who played in that section—many of them against him during his career—or from 1923 on.

Here is the team Hanson named on the spur of the moment.

Ends—Tully of Dartmouth and Berry of Lafayette.

Tackles—Milstead of Yale and Sprague of the Army.

Guards—Connaughton of Georgetown and Schmidt of the Army.

Center—McMillan of Princeton.

Quarterback—Pfann of Cornell.

Backs—Oberlander of Dartmouth, Tryon of Colgate and McBride of Syracuse.

An interesting array of talent.

And oh, what a sweet backfield. "I'd like to have that backfield on my team," added Hanson.

Hanson's modesty probably prevented him from placing himself at end, desnite the fact that he is an all-American selection.

LOU GEHRIG

Just what kind of a salary the Yankee bosses are going to offer Lou Gehrig for the coming season is of no less importance to baseball fans in general than it is to the imitator of Ruth himself. In 1926 Gehrig made 16 home runs while batting out a .313 average. Last season he hit 47 circuit clouts and it looked possible for a long time as though he would dethrone Ruth as king of the busters.

PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO "TIP" RICHARDS

H. E. Zerner of various grid games of New Castle high, training scenes, the Old-Timers game at Franklin stadium and the Dempsey-Tunney pictures. Dr. Zerner is staff physician for the Ne-Ca-Hi football team.

The testimonial dinner was arranged by Peter Canitolo, who has the faculty of arranging successful affairs and he presided as chairman of the banquet, explaining friends desired to honor "Tip", after which Attorney Dickey acted as toastmaster.

Representative Bart Richards spoke in glowing terms of "Tip" and of the manner in which he had played the game since entering high school. He also dwelt upon the fact that Richards has made the most of his opportunities in football and studies.

Ed Fritz, sports editor of The News, told of having known "Tip" when he wore curls and was a mascot for the I. A. A. and of his progress in athletics and not only paid tribute to Captain Richards but the entire football team and their mentors.

Old-Timer Talks.

Harry Bell, a former center on New Castle high high, told of being one of the players on the team of 1902 to come from the south side and repeated many of the incidents connected with the life of a gridder and said he was happy to be present and help honor Richards.

Dr. H. E. Zerner, before displaying his pictures, said that Richards had through sheer ability made the most of his opportunities and pointed out not only "Tip" but all the gridders should bear in mind that what can be accomplished in football can be accomplished in later life.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh was the first speaker at the conclusion of the moving pictures shown by Dr. H. E. Zerner and which proved one of the big features of the evening.

Bridenbaugh Speaks

The address of Coach Bridenbaugh was a special tribute to the boy Captain "Tip" Richards, whom he was pleased to call a self made star.

He said among other things: "This is one of the nicest affairs that I have ever attended. I feel honored in being present at an event honoring "Tippy" who is deserving of the honor given him and one of the finest boys turned out by the New Castle High School.

"He is a wonderful boy and we were certainly fortunate in having in him such a good captain as he turned out to be. He was a wonderful leader and the good feeling on the squad was due to the way that he conducted himself. He was a star every year that he played, being a mainstay of the team during his three years. I'm sorry to see Tippy leave. He always tried to do his duty in accordance with the ideals of the school. I hope he goes to college and the school where he goes will be fortunate.

"He was not what you term a natural star but the star that he became was due to his own efforts and ambition. The credit for what he became is due to himself."

Gardner's Tribute

Ralph Gardner, faculty manager, was the next speaker, brought forth the thought that "Tippy" was a real leader, because of the fact that when in order to meet changing conditions in playing the game during the past year, he gave up the honor of carrying the ball to others when it was thought best that he should lead the interference. In this manner, he gave up the opportunity of being constantly in the limelight, that others might get the glory, and all for the glory of his team and school. He took this thankless job without complaint and was never a knocker, he said.

Overend Speaks

Clarence Overend, graduate manager of Carnegie Tech, as the special speaker and guest of honor, other than Tippy Richards, then spoke. He said among other things "This party is the finest of its kind that I ever attended and I would say that much credit must be given the women responsible for the excellent dinner that we have enjoyed.

"There are those among us, who watch the games and enjoy them, who forget the sacrifices that the boy, who is on the team, must make. He must practice before the others start to school and must give up his Saturday's and other periods, usually devoted to recreation. And it's all for glory of the school.

"A boy such as Tippy, who has been the success that the other speakers have mentioned, cannot help but be a success in his future life. His success must in no small degree be due to the training given in his home. His actions on the field and in school are the result of the training that started in the home.

"I hope he goes to college and if he does, when he comes back, he will be a leader not only among his own people but of the community."

Others Speak

Attorney George W. Muse then spoke of what he knew of football and of the Richards family. He said that Mrs. Richards, the mother, deserved great credit, because she had the courage to allow her boy to go on an dplay football, when the very thought of the danger that her boy was going through, made her sick at heart. He concluded by saying that Tippy was a good square kid and deserved all the honor being given him.

He then presented him with a fine life time pen and pencil set, the gift of the fans present, also gifts from Tony Petrucci, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bullano, Miss Gaibes, and B. J. Biondi.

Paul Reider, the galloping ghost of the New Castle High School team, then, in behalf of the members of the football squad, presented the honor guest with a fine traveling set, telling of the esteem in which Captain Richards was held by his teammates.

Tippy Responds

The honor guest, Captain Charles "Tip" Richards then spoke and expressed his appreciation of the honors conferred on him and the gifts presented to him. He said he planned to go to college, having decided that this would be his course in life when he was still in the grade schools.

Attorney Thomas W. Dickey, the toastmaster, then brought the affair to a close with a few well chosen words, in which he congratulated the honor guest and those responsible for the event.

The spaghetti was prepared by Mrs. Peter Biondi and assistants: Mrs. A. Maciariello, Mrs. C. Ross, Mrs. Tony Bullano, Mrs. B. Biondi, Mrs. F. Gaibis, Mrs. M. Micco and Miss Christina Biondi and served by:

Mrs. Rose Fazzone and the Misses Josephine Carboni, Florence Micco, Antonetta Gaibis, Mary Maciariello, Milly Sacco, Helen Ross, Minnie Natale, Margaret Richards, Francis and Luisa di Carbo, Lillian de Lillo and Fil Icone.

During the entertainment in which William Chill, Frankie de Lillo and Emil Strizzi rendered numbers, Miss Mary D'Amata was piano accompanist. The Immigration Four again scored a big hit and Copple Brothers played several instrumental numbers.

PUGILISTS SETTLE DOWN TO TRAINING

departed in 20 minutes for Lowellville. Rather than take a chance on walking, he stepped from his corner, flattened the Cleveland boy and was on time to catch the car.

Good things are spoken of Zivie Osborne, also of Cleveland, who is to fight the stockily-built football player, Jack Drake of Sharon. Drake fought at Centennial field last summer and milled recently at Youngstown. He is not a kangaroo on his feet but he is durable and hopes to give the Cleveland Flash a real fight.

Six round battles are short enough and still sufficient to satisfy the fight fans. In ten round battles a boxer generally consumes three or four rounds warming up. In a six round battle they can start off at stop speed and keep it up and Promoter Jolly's efforts to provide action through the medium of glove tossers should be realized.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Charley Paddock, "world's fastest human," will race in the East for the first time in several years at the Columbus Council, K. of C. games here on February 29, according to an announcement by Frank S. Brennan, chairman of the Columbus Council games committee.

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

Now that fishing has been urged as an intercollegiate sport, the boys with a big "line" may make their letter.

News item: "Harvard students were wild with joy today over the announcement that Eph Applesauce, champ New Foundland whaler, has been signed as coach."

Of course, the Navy would break off relations with the Army because the cadets used veteran worms.

If C. C. Pyle ever organizes a pro-fishing team his boys would probably scoff at everything but gold fish.

Fishing coaches' alibi: "We had 'em licked up to the last quarter when one of our linesmen let a big mackerel get away."

Another news item: "Yale was plunged into gloom today when it was learned Sam Sardine had been barred from future competition because he caught a Michigan perch in his freshman year."

* * *

Still another N. I.: "Knute Rockne is reported using a new kind of bait this year, the famous Notre Dame hook being now barred by the rules committee."

Three Games In Church League

Three fast games are on tap tonight at the Y. M. C. A. floor for followers of the New Castle Church league. The first game starts at 7:30 o'clock.

The First Baptists will meet the Temple Israels in the first game on the program. The First M. E. will battle the First Christians and the Croton M. E. boys will tangle with the Mahoning M. E. passers.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Thursday's closing rally in the oil, copper and specialty stocks was carried forward to slightly higher price levels in the early trading today. The $22,000,000 increase in brokers' borrowings reported by the Reserve Board was anticipated in the stock exchange's December loan summary, and therefore was without special effect on market movements. It is expected that borrowings of this sort will be materially cut down this week the result of the large volume of investment buying of dividend stocks for cash, and the settlement for stocks purchased early in the week.

Buying demand for United States Steel Common was sufficient to force that stock to above 150 in a good volume of trading Greene Cananea jumped 7½ points to 150½ thus completing a recovery of about 12 points from Thursday's law.

Call money was in good supply, and the renewal rate unchanged at 4 per cent.

Present Outlook In Iron And Steel Industry Shown

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 5.—Iron Trade Review says: High expectations for iron and steel in the first quarter which inspired the heavy forward buying of December have emerged unscathed from the holidays and entered what producers and consumers alike believe is a period of fulfillment. Neither demand nor production relaxed in the usual degree over the year-end and are pitched high for early January.

In such major consuming outlets as the automotive railroad building and oil industries there is unquestioned evidence of renewed activity. Many of the larger factors in these groups having contracted well last month, their specifications over the next 30 days should afford a good measure of consumption. It seems probable that January will be characterized by specifying rather than by contracting, reversing the situation in December.

Ahead of the industry is 130,000 to 140,000 tons of heavy steel for the 13,000 feright cars ordered last month. Last week's structurel awards approximating 40,000 tons exceeded the 1927 weekly average by 5,000 tons. Concrete bar orders were excelled in only a few weeks of 1927. The price tendency in building steel, especially bars is upward.

Year-end specifications for steel bars were heavier in all districts, at Chicago being double the rate of December a year ago. December sheet bookings were the heaviest since last March. In other lines largely dependent upon the automotive industry, such as strip and cold finished bars, both demand and production have turned up slightly with prospects that the rate be accelerated shortly. Pig iron producers start January with order books on the average, heavier that a year ago.

The fact that pig iron production in December continued the decline which set in last May and plumbed the lowest daily average since July, 1925, does not wet-blanket the good feeling which pervades the industry. The emphasis last month was upon first quarter contracts and the improved shipments of some furnaces late in the month could not neutralize the indifference of consumers early in the month. A favorable factor is that there was a net loss of only one stack at the close of December, whereas in November three stacks were dropped, in October seven and in September eight. The decline in the daily rate from November to December was a fourth what it was a year ago.

The 1927 total fo pig iron now stands at 36,270,567 tons, compared with 39,100,941 tons in 1926 and 36,370,404 tons in 1925. It was 8½ per cent below the record of 40,025,850 tons of 1923. The December daily average was 86,441 tons against 88,728 tons in November and 99,650 tons in December 1926.

Reject Proposal To Erect Marker For Penn's Grave

By J. C. OESTREICHER

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The burial place of William Penn, the quaker pioneer and founder of Pennsylvania, will remain a lonely, unmarked grave.

The proposal by a Pittsburgh resident, Weaver H. Rogers, president of an American investiment company, to erect a $125,000 mausoleum over Penn's grave, has been rejected by the small committee of friends who control the Quaker burial ground at Jordans.

The idea was placed before the committee by Mr. Rogers, in which he asked whether the Quaker authorities would welcome the erection of a memorial structure.

"Some of my fellow citizens of the State of Pennsylvania," Rogers wrote, "are desirous of securing permission for the erection at Jordans Burial Ground, of a simple and appropriate memorial to William Penn, his second wife and children.

"The memorial could be in the shape of anything of simple character, and in good taste, from a suitable bronze tablet to a small meeting house. The cost of the memorial would be entirely cared for by subscriptions from public-inspired citizens here."

The proposal was taken under consideration by the Friends, and the folcwing resolution adopted:

"It is our wish to maintain the principle held throughout the history of the Society of Friends ever since the time of William Penn, that in death all are equal, and that no distinction shall be made between rich and poor, great and humble."

The Society sent a letter of thanks to Rogers for his offer, and suggested that the American memorial take the form of a bronze tablet erected on the famous Mayflower Barn, which stands near the Jordans Meeting House. The barn is believed to have been built of the timbers of the Mayflower which carried the pilgrims to America.

Penn's grave is identical with that of hundreds of other Quaker graves in the burial ground.

Use Rays Of Light As Cure For Rickets

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 6.—Light rays combined with material derived from a fungus growth from rye have been found to be an important aid in the treatment of rickets, according to the research reports of the Medical School of the University of Rochester.

The treatment which was developed in the laboratories of the medical school has been explained by Dr. Ethel Luce Clausen in a paper on "The Biological Effects of Light."

A long series of experiments in treating rats affected with rickets was assisted by chemists of the Eastman Kodak Co., and several cures were effected before the treatment was applied to humans.

Dr. Clausen said that the result with rickets had led to a wave of enthusiasm over the value of light in the treatment of disease. While some of the enthusiasm runs ahead of scientific knowledge on the subject she said the subject offers many valuable opportunities for further research.

Husband Gloomy, Would Not Talk; Wife Frightened

Mrs. Gertrude H. Mechling was granted a divorce by Judge Hildebrand in Lawrence county court today from Charles D. Mechling, on the grounds of cruelty. They were married in November, 1922 and lived together until February 1924.

In her testimony Mrs. Mechling stated that after their marriage they had gone to live with her father, later going to housekeeping for themselves on Highland avenue. For about six months they got along fairly well. She says that her husband then became gloomy and would not talk. He would frequently say that "a bullet would end it all." This got on her nerves so that she could not sleep. Owing to this treatment she left.

Theodore F. Johnson was granted a divorce from Anna C. Johnson by Judge J. A. Chambers on the grounds of desertion. After they were married in June, 1923, they went to live at the home of her parents named Ketzel on West Madison avenue. Later they moved to a room on the third floor. He claimed that he wanted to get a home and furnish it as best he could but that his wife declared she would not leave the home of her parents. In March, 1924, Johnson claims that his wife would not let him in the house and he had to find accommodations elsewhere. They have one child now about three years old.

would necessarily be a witness in the case.

"Will the stipulation act as a stay of execution for Mrs. Snyder?" asked Justice Levy was asked.

"No," he replied.

It was predicted in legal circles that the next move of attorneys for Mrs. Snyder would be to make application for a stay of execution on the ground that she is a material witness in the impending civil action, and that her testimony is absolutely vital.

The appeal for the stay, it is declared, would be made on the ground that the date now set for the hearing of the argument on the Prudential case is set for the day following the date of execution.

Johnston-Gordon Concert Pleases

Educational Art Society Program On Thursday Evening Is Good One

Deviating from the usual run of attractions, the Educational Art Society presented J. Rosamond Johnston and Taylor Gordon Thursday evening in the Scottish Rite Cathedral in a program of Negro melodies. For ninety minutes or more, the audience listened to these two Negro artists and as they sang one could feel the outpourings of the soul of a race that had been repressed for centuries. At times their melodies smacked of the care free spirit of the wharf and the levee, and still at other times one could discern what appeared to be the origin of the modern jazz music.

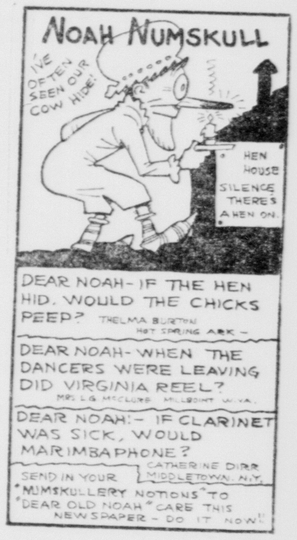

It was an interesting program, one that was different enough from an ordinary concert to make it most enjoyable. The two men are not the ordinary Negro spiritual singers, they are accomplished musicians and the music lover of this city is the richer for having heard them.

Says Library Is Part Of Public Educational Plan

Libraries continue to educate as well as supplement the teaching of the schools, avers Miss Alice M. Sterling, librarian at the public library. For many years, she declares, the library has been considered an integral part of public education. Now a new note of emphasis is being heard—adult education through the library.

Formal education, while it may cease with the high school, says Miss Sterling, while informal education continues throughout life Some learn through experience; some through reading and study, but everyone acquires some knowledge every day. Those who develop fastest are those who work systematically toward a chosen goal.

"Here is where the library with its reader's advisor enters the scene. With all its wealth of books to choose from—books for reference, for study, and books for reading—it is difficult for the inexperienced to find a way through the forest of knowledge. But with an experienced pathfinder as a guide, with finger posts of reading lists and bibliographies to point the way, the reader can journey onward past enticing by-paths and safely progress from blaze to blaze until the Interpreter's house is reached.

"This, then, is the service which the public libraries are now rendering to anyone who is in earnest. The New Castle public library is doing it. A course of reading may be planned on almost any subject. It may begin with an outline of a few important books, but it can progress to important exercises. Counsel and guidance are available, the books are at hand, and the library and student cooperate in adult education.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

There's a trick in every trade, so the old axiom goes, and if eating be a trade, then there is a trick in eating spaghetti. It's a trick soon acquired, and once acquired is pleasant to indulge in, and that crowd in King Humbert hall last night were for the most part skilled spaghetti winders.

The feed was in honor of Tip Richards, who captained the 1927 football team, and an estimate of the spaghetti eaten would be about as many yards as Tip ran with a football in his four years of play. The point after touchdown was made with meat balls, salad, ripe olives, or what else would you like?

Tip is no relative of the colyum conductor's, so that anything said here can hardly be laid to family ties. It was a well deserved tribute to this young man, and when he goes away to school next year the memory of those friends should be a constant reminder that the folks back home are rooting for him.

Ralph Gardner and Phil Bridenbaugh are fast learning the intricacies of spaghetti winding. Only once in a while does a forkful slip off and hit them in the mustache, and in the next couple of years they should be able to wind it with such addicts as George Muse, Tom Dickey, Dr. H. E. Zerner, all of whom were present last night.

Slid out of there rather early in order to catch the concert of Johnson and Gordon in the Cathedral. If you like negro spirituals you would have liked these two artists. They sang all kinds of folk songs, spirituals and funny songs, and at the conclusion the people present seemed to agree that this concert was so different from the rest that it was a happy choice.

You can take your basketball or leave it alone tonight. New Castle opens the season with Evans City here and Westminster opens the season with Grove City in Grove City. Both New Castle and Westminster have fast, clever teams this year, and both of them deserve a crowd.

These are great days for getting free automobile rides. Had one in the new Ford a few days ago, had one in the new Studebaker President today, and have an invitation to try out the new Chevrolet. Don't get any funny ideas, however. I'm not in the market for a new car.

Just want to remind you that on January 26 E. E. Spafford, national commander of the American Legion, will be here, with State Commander E. E. Hollenbach of Philadelphia.
